COMMITTS DASTARDY CRIME

Arthur Caddock, a Shipping Clerk of Kenosha, in the Jail for Assault

OF EIGHT-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Daughter of Ex-Sheriff Henry H. Timme of Kenosha—Faces a Sentence of Possibly Thirty-Five Years

One of the most dastardly crimes in the criminal annals of Kenosha was reported on Sunday afternoon, when it is alleged that Arthur Caddock, a shipping clerk, 28 years of age, attempted to make a criminal assault on Mabel Timme, the 8-year-old daughter of former Sheriff and Mrs. Henry H. Timme.

The assault on the child was committed at the Caddock home, which adjoins the Timme home on Chicago street. It is not thought that the little girl was seriously injured, but she is still suffering from the effects of the rough handling by Caddock.

The accused man was brought before Justice McCarron Monday morning, and waiving a preliminary examination he was held to the Circuit court on a charge of attempted criminal assault and his bail fixed at $3,000.

Caddock has announced to the sheriff his intention of pleading guilty to the charges against him, and he will be taken before the Circuit court for that purpose, just as soon as Judge Belden can find time to go to that city. An examination of the laws of the state shows that Caddock is facing a long term of prison service, for under the law the minimum penalty for his crime is five years, and in the discretion of the court he may be sent to prison for a term of thirty-five years.

Caddock was seen in his cell and was laughing and talking to the other prisoners as if he thought the whole matter was a great joke, and the only trace of manhood in him was brought to the surface when his mother was referred to. The man admitted his crime and made no effort to excuse himself more than to say that he could not explain how it happened.

The family of Caddock, who are decidedly respectable people, are crushed by the actions of the man, and the father in talking with the sheriff, declared that he would rather have seen his son dead than in jail on such a charge. Caddock has made admissions of the most damaging sort should he ever attempt to go to trial on the charges against him, but it is pretty certain that he will not seek a trial, but accept the punishment meted out to him by the Circuit Judge.

THEY ARE TWINS

Their Birthday Celebrated by Near Relations and Friends.

The following article clipped from the "Mercer Signal," Mo., will be of interest to many of our readers, especially to those among the older residents of Lake county, who will remember the parties herein concerned, and will remember them as young people, and as they grew to man and womanhood at their home near this place:

On Friday, May 3rd, Mr. Theodore Cribb and twin sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, celebrated their 77th birthday at the home of Joe Kaufman in Somerset township where Mrs. Brown lives with her daughter. They were born in New York, May 8, 1830, came to Lake county, Illinois, when 15 years old with their parents, and later lived in DeBouque Co., Iowa, a number of years. They came to Mercer county with their families 33 years ago last October living only a few miles apart all their lives. At present Mr. Cribb lives two miles south of Ravenna. They are said to be the oldest twins living in the county and possibly in the state.

Uncle "Dode" and Aunt Elizabeth lived in Somerset township for many years and have a host of friends who join us in wishing them many more happy birthdays.

Pontiac, Great Organizer.
Pontiac exemplified at once the best and the worst traits of the American Indian. As an organizer among a people with whom organization is almost impossible, and as a master of the treacherous statecraft of his race, he probably surpassed them all. As soon as his death was known, the French governor at St. Louis sent for his body and buried it with full martial honors near the fort. "For a mausoleum," Parkman finely says, "a great city has arisen above the forest hero; and the race whom he hated with such burning rancor, trample with unceasing footsteps over his forgotten grave."—Outing Magazine.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN GONE

David Welch Passed Away at His Home in this Village Monday Evening

At about six thirty o'clock on Monday evening at his home in this village occurred the death of David Welch, an elderly, well known and highly respected citizen. He has lived in this county for many years and where ever he was known had many friends who will regret to learn of his death.

He had been in poor health all winter, and when the doctors pronounced the cause of his ailment Bright's disease, it was known to his family and friends that he could not recover, and on Monday evening he quietly passed away at about the age of sixty-eight years.

For some years he lived on his farm east of town, but a few years ago he retired from active life and he and his sister Hannah moved to this village to make their home.

He never married, but leaves to mourn his loss his brother John and sister Hannah at this place, and Mrs. Mary Porter, of Poulney, Vermont, and Miss Eliza Welch, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., all of whom were with him at the time of his death.

He was of an honest, upright disposition and always had the welfare of the community at heart. For many years he was a member of the Millburn Insurance company and never failed to be present at their annual meetings where his counsel and advice was sought and freely given. He always had a good word for everyone and his many friends in Antioch and the surrounding country will miss him.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 the Rev. F. R. McNamer officiating. The interment was at the Hillside cemetery.

REFUSED LICENCE; FIGHTS

Police of Highwood Compelled to Arrest
C. Conrad in Order to Preserve Peace

The refusal of a saloon license to M. C. Conrad, at Highwood, by Mayor Hogan, Saturday night, precipitated a fierce argument, ending in a fight in which the police of the village were called out to preserve the peace.

According to all reports, Conrad opposed Hogan in the last election standing for Laegler, the Gibbs candidate, in the hot little place.

In addition, Conrad is alleged to owe $250 license money.

Therefore when he applied for a saloon license for the ensuing year, Hogan curtly refused him.

Conrad is also local Shoenhofen agent and has a warehouse at Highwood. Even his wholesale business was closed down, it is alleged.

Enraged at what he regarded as an unjust act, and infuriated by Hogan's refusal to issue him a license, or permit him to operate either his wholesale or retail business, until he had paid up the $250 that he is alleged to owe, Conrad got his son, J. C. Conrad, and with him invaded the city hall where the terms on which he could run were told him again.

It is said that finally the Conrads, who raised a stormy argument, were ordered out of the village hall and the marshal, Roger Moore, was called on to enforce the mayor's commands.

The two Conrads are alleged to have thrown Moore and were about to sit upon him when the mayor called another officer to his aid and the two Conrads were finally lodged in the village lock-up.

At 11 o'clock that night they were bailed out.

VILLAGE WILL LIMIT THE SALOONS

The Libertyville village board at its meeting last Monday night passed an ordinance regulating the number of saloons that can run in Libertyville. The ordinance that there can be seven saloons as now legally licensed, but there shall not be any more until such time as the village grows sufficiently so that they can be increased at the rate of one saloon for each 500 inhabitants. Thus before there can be eight saloons in Libertyville it must have a population of 4,000. Then with each succeeding 500 residents a new saloon can be licensed. This effectively stops any more saloons from starting for some years, as the village must double in size before another can enter business.

How Machinery Pays for Itself.
It is estimated by the department of agriculture that last year's crop was produced and garnered at a saving of $685,000,000 over what would have been the cost of raising an equal crop 50 years ago. This saving was accomplished by the use of modern agricultural implements.—Farm Machinery.

THINK IT WAS MURDER

People Near Powers Lake Believe John Vraknik Was Victim of Ice Cutters

BODY SUNK IN THE LAKE

No Trace of the Man has Been Found Since His Strange Disappearance on Night of February 28

People who reside in the neighborhood of Powers lake in the town of Randall, Wisconsin, are asking that the officials of the county make investigations into the disappearance and alleged drowning of John Vraknik who has been mysteriously missing since the night of Feb. 28, and it is thought that there is some reason to believe that the man was murdered and his body weighted and sunk in the lake.

On the morning after the disappearance of Vraknik, his cap and coat and a package of tobacco were found laying on the ice a few feet from the shore of the lake and the men who had been with him stated that on the previous night he had been working as a channel man for the Jefferson Ice company, and that he had drowned while attempting to push some ice away from a channel.

For weeks the officials of the ice company and the people in the neighborhood have been hunting for the body, but they have found absolutely nothing to indicate that Vraknik ever went into the lake. There have been several big storms and the men taking an interest in the case hold that if the body was in the lake it would have come to the surface by this time.

The missing man has two brothers in Chicago, and they have been out to urge the officials to make some effort to end the mystery. On the day following the disappearance of the man the two men who were with Vraknik were arrested and after they had told their story the men were released and they left Powers lake a few days later when the ice cutting season had closed. It is now claimed that Vraknik and one of the men had a quarrel at which a threat to kill were made and some of the people believe that these threats were carried out, and that Vraknik was murdered and his weighted body thrown into the lake.

Later, they claim, the men, fearing discovery, threw his hat and the pike pole which he had carried into the water to give the impression that he had been drowned.

DROWNED IN PISTAKEE LAKE

Mat Becker of Chicago Meets an Untimely Death

Early Friday morning of last week Mat Becker a young man 22 years of age, whose home is in Chicago, was drowned and his body has not as yet been recovered.

For some time past he had been employed with a gang of workmen, who are operating a dredge in the Nippesink. He with two companions early Thursday evening took a row boat and went across the lake to the Stilling hotel, where they remained until an early hour in the morning when they started homeward. In making the return trip across the lake in some manner the boat was upset and the three men found themselves struggling in the water. Becker was drowned but his two companions succeeded in reaching the shore.

ALL HIGHWOOD IN PERIL

Destruction of North Shore City Threatened by Blaze that Destroys Shoe Store

Highwood, the city on the outskirts of Fort Sheridan, narrowly escaped being burned to the ground Tuesday. A two-story building occupied by a shoe store and an ice-cream parlor was burned.

There was no water with which to fight the flames and the whole city turned out, fearful that the fire would spread. The wind, however, sent the sparks westward over the railroad tracks, where there were few houses to be endangered.

The volunteer fire company, which includes most of the saloonkeepers in the city, couldn't get a stream of water six feet high through the hose.

The burned building was in Highwood avenue. The heaviest loss was suffered by Peterson's shoe store. All the telephone cables to Highwood and Fort Sheridan were severed by the fire.

FROST STARTS FIGHT

Seeks to Compel Wisconsin
Central to Have Traffic
Arrangements

ROCKEFELLER THE POINT

If Arrangements are Perfected the Traffic Conditions of all Roads will be Greatly Affected.

Chicago papers had reference Sunday to a move which the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railroad company is to make with reference to insisting upon traffic arrangements with other roads. The references were all mixed up and the facts are as follows, being of great local interest because Lake county contentions will be the basis of the fight.

A. C. Frost, president of the railroad, is to start the fight between electric and steam railroads when he will ask Interstate Commerce Commission to compel the Wisconsin Central railroad to resume traffic arrangements and an interchange of freight, his special intention and plan being to compel them to make this change at Rockefeller, west of Libertyville.

It will be the first case of the kind as we understand it and it is expected that it will be stubbornly contested by both sides.

If the electric road wins, it will mean the diversion of a considerable amount of business from the steam roads, a loss of more than one-third of the revenue derived from purely local business by some of the roads in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio which are paralleled for miles by electric roads.

The Chicago and Milwaukee Electric road maintains connections with the Wisconsin Central at Rockefeller. In its complaint to the commission the road says it entered into an arrangement last November with the Wisconsin Central railroad for a through traffic on cabbages in carloads, to the south and south-east, and that the Wisconsin Central promised to furnish the cars for loading. The cars were not furnished and the 2,000 carloads shipped from Racine county in 1906 were forwarded via other lines.

It is alleged that the Wisconsin Central arbitrarily filed a cancellation notice with the commission.

Mr. Frost is a good fighter and we hope that he will win out in this fight which means much to Lake county transportation.

MRS. FIDDLER DEAD

Well Known Lake County Resident Passed Away on Friday Last.

Mrs. Laura Fiddler, wife of Christian Fiddler, passed away on Friday of last week at her home near Bristol. She is well known about here especially around Lake Villa, which place was her home for many years. At the time of her death she was eighty years, eleven months and twenty-one days of age. She leaves to mourn her loss, an aged husband and seven children. At the time of the civil war she uncompromisingly gave three of her sons to the cause, all three were killed in the service of their country. The funeral was held on Monday and the remains were interred in the Angolia cemetery at Lake Villa.

BAD WRECK ON ST. PAUL AT SPRING GROVE

Quite a bad wreck occurred on the St. Paul railroad at Spring Grove on Wednesday of last week, when seven cars from a fast stock freight jumped the track with the result that several hundred live stock were killed and a brakeman was slightly injured. The cause of the accident is attributed to a broken truck under one of the cars and at the time of the accident the train was running at a speed of about fifty miles an hour. Four stock cars, one carrying a large tank of oil and two refrigerator cars were included in the smashup. Both of the latter were loaded with cheese, one was badly smashed and the contents promiscuously scattered. About forty hogs, thirty calves and one horse were killed. The oil tank was badly damaged and some of the cars were almost entirely destroyed. Traffic was delayed nearly all day.

WILL APPLY LOCAL OPTION

Temperance People of Waukegan to Unite and Put Saloon Matter to Vote

The temperance people, Prohibitionists, Law and Order League members of Waukegan, are to meet Friday evening in the Congregational church where the new local option law is to be explained to them and where they are to take steps to take advantage of the law there.

Secretary Thomas Quayle of the Lake County Law and Order League will probably address the meeting and will explain the provisions of the law and just what can be done under it. He worked for the bill at Springfield.

Others will address the meeting, both in explaining the law and in suggesting what can be done under its provisions.

A general discussion is scheduled to take place during which time suggestions will be made and plans laid for working under the law and attempting to make Lake county a "dry county."

The meeting was suggested by Dr. Roemer at the Gideon meeting Saturday evening and met with favor. It is under the direction of Dr. Roemer and F. W. Moody. The meetings in the different churches last Sunday were Gideon meetings. In the morning several of the Gideons went to each church and conducted the services.

NAME MAY BE CHANGED

Government Wishes to Change Name of North Chicago.

C. W. Vedder, the postmaster at North Chicago, has received a communication from Washington, making the following proposition to the villagers.

They wish to abandon the name of North Chicago as a post office and use instead "Station A, Waukegan" the present incumbent and his assistants to be re-appointed to take charge of Station A, Waukegan. Three mail carriers would be provided, and three deliveries of mail daily to the stores and factories, and two deliveries to the resident district, the same number of mails which Waukegan has.

The authorities state that their principal reason for wishing the change is the fact that "North Chicago" and north Chicago in the city are confused and mail is thus delayed by being sent to the wrong place.

It is merely a suggestion from Washington as a way out of the difficulty and the matter is to be decided by the citizens of the town. Those on the north end have long been fighting for mail delivery and are in favor of the present movement. Whether the majority of the villagers want the change or not remains to be seen.

IMPRISONMENT CHANGES VIEWS

Lucy Crosby, the Zion City priestess of free love, and Arthur Bales, her most ardent follower, both of whom declared that the marriage vows were an offensive yoke, and who were sent to jail for living in accordance with their expressed views, changed their minds and now they are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bales.

Three weeks in the jail at Waukegan wrought a wonderful change in their beliefs. They entered that dingy institution determined to be martyrs to the cause of free love, they came out wearing the yoke they had despised.

At ten o'clock Tuesday they were pronounced man and wife by Justice Weiss of Waukegan, the same magistrate by whom they had been sent to jail.

Immediately upon their release, however they laughed in the face of the magistrate declared that they renounced the marriage that had been forced upon them and said that they would return to Zion City and preach the gospel for which they had been imprisoned.

The magistrate laughed back at them, knowing that no matter how much they boasted the renunciation of their vows, the law would compel observation of them.

It is the plan of Arthur Bales and Lucy Crosby, as they insist upon being called, to found a free love colony. They will not go to Joseph Heilhart's Spirit Erail farm at Wooster Lake, but will start a colony of their own. They plan to gather most of their followers at Zion City.

RUSE DIDN'T WORK

A balliff, having long tried in vain to arrest a Quaker, at last resolved to adopt the disguise of a Quaker himself, and so get access to the interior of the house. He knocked accordingly at the door, inquiring if Friend Aminadab was at home and if he could see him. The housekeeper said, "Walk in, friend, and he shall see thee." The balliff, delighted to have got this success, was directed to wait; but after waiting an hour he became impatient, rang the bell, and said to the servant, "Thou promised me I should see Friend Aminadab." "No, friend," answered she; "I promised he should see thee. He hath seen thee, but he doth not like thee."—Tit-Bits.

SHIP BURNS ON LAKE

Scene of Horror on Naomi,
Which Goes Up in Flames
in Dead of Night

HEROIC DEEDS SAVE MANY

Imprisoned Stokers Perish as Rescued
Look on and One Passenger Expires

In a night of horrors on Lake Michigan five lives were lost and the steamer Naomi of the Crosby Transportation company burned to the waters edge early Tuesday morning while on her regular trip from Grand Haven to Milwaukee. Seventy-five other passengers and members of the crew were rescued from the burning wreck by the big steel freighters Saxonia and Kerr and the Kansas, consort of the Naomi all of which chanced to be within easy distance when the rising flames revealed the vessels distress.

After having rescued from peril by fire and wave, those who were rescued witnessed the spectacle of four stokers fighting to force their way to safety through manholes in the hull that were too small for even a head to be put through. Efforts were made to save the doomed men, but to no avail.

The Naomi, formerly called the Wisconsin, left Grand Haven at nine o'clock with the night clear and the lake like a pond. About one o'clock as the vessel was in mid-lake, smoke came pouring through the main cabin from a fire that is supposed to have started in the fore of the hold.

All the passengers were asleep in their berths but the moment the steamers whistle sounded the alarm the steward dashed to the cabin to awaken the occupants.

Half the passengers were aroused in short order and sent to the after part of the boat, but others were overcome by smoke. The doors of their cabins were smashed in and the rescuers dragged them forth, still wrapped in their blankets.

While the purser and steward busied themselves in awakening the passengers, the rest of the crew launched the lifeboats and threw over the life rafts. Four of the boats were burned into cinders or else were walled off from reach by a mass of flames, but the rest were brought to the stern, where the white-faced passengers were huddled, and were quickly filled and cast loose.

The fire made such rapid headway that within a few minutes the fore part of the ship was a furnace of flames. Tongues of fire shot up and attracted the attention of the Kerr and Saxonia, and the Kansas, which was on its course from Milwaukee to Grand Haven.

The three boats steamed to the rescue and reached the spot just as the last lifeboat was being cast off. The captain of Kerr rammed the prow of his vessel against the stern of the Naomi and the remaining passengers dropped over the rails to safety.

MRS. DOWIE ESCAPES ACCIDENT

Mrs. Jane Dowie, widow of the late John Alexander Dowie narrowly escaped a tragic death on Saturday and had it not been for the prompt action of the crossing watchman she would have been struck by a north bound train.

Mrs. Dowie was driving from the lake to her residence. The south bound train had just passed the crossing and Mrs. Dowie did not notice the north bound approaching so she tried to cross. She would have been hit by the oncoming train had the gate man realized her danger and with a jerk backed her horse off the track. It was a narrow escape for the train was practically upon her.

BODY DISCOVERED THREE DAYS AFTER DEATH

Winthrop Searles was found dead late last week at Lake Zurich, back of John Robertson's ice house. The circumstances of his death can not be determined, but Coronet Taylor has decided that death was due to natural causes and exposure and that he had undoubtedly been dead for some time probably about three days before being found.

Mr. Searles was the oldest son of G. W. and Betsy Searles who were old residents of Lake County. He was about fifty years of age and had always lived in the southern part of this county.

FAMOUS CANALS OF CHINA.

Holland's Waterways Outdone by the Celestial Empire.

Holland's canals are famous, but the canal system of China is far more marvelous and its value to the enormous empire is simply incalculable.
No country in the world has more navigable rivers and canals than China. The network of waterways, natural and artificial, so covers the empire that almost as many people live upon the water as on the land.
The Great canal, that wonder of the world, runs north and south from Canton to the extremity of the empire, and by this route the wares of all nations are carried to Peking, a distance of 325 miles. This canal is 50 feet wide; it passes through, or near, 41 large cities; it has 75 large sluices to keep up the water, and is spanned by thousands of bridges.

Extravagance in Dress.

Very few persons outside of the glittering circle of our enormously rich families, who constitute what is referred to as "the best society," can understand how any young woman in this or any other country can spend upon her wardrobe such vast amounts of money as are expended by the daughters of some of these families.
The history of the world does not show such reckless extravagance in the way of dress. Nor, for the matter of that, does the history of the world show so riotous a use of money as that practiced by our very rich in their strictly social diversions. Happy is the lot of the man or woman who is not tempted to such foolish indulgences, which take the edge from life's real joy!

Fled from Gas.

"I had a friend," said the bearded man, "who got out of paying a bill he owed in an original way. When the collector arrived he sent word to him that he would see him in a few minutes. Then he went into the parlor, shut the doors carefully, turned on every blessed burner in the chandelier, came quickly out, and had his man show the bill collector in the parlor while he hurried upstairs. Do you think that collector waited a few minutes for him to come down? Not on your photograph. He fled from that gas filled room in about two seconds by the clock. If he had stayed three he'd have been suffocated."

Uncle Eben.

"When I goes to de co't house," said Uncle Eben, "it sometimes looks to me like de jury was a committee to award a prize to de smartest lawyer."

PLEASURE FOR AN EVENING.

Novel Idea in the Way of a Church Entertainment.

Here's a novel idea for a church entertainment which requires little preparation. A rustic bridge was built out from the stage, enclosing a square space that was used for a fish pond.
Rocks and ferns were grouped along the edge of the stage, the floor was covered with green carpet, and a pre-ludic scene painted on coarse cotton was hung at the back of the stage, making a very picturesque setting for the pond, says the Cooking School Magazine. Steps led up to the bridge, and at the foot was a rustic look, where, on payment of a fee, the prospective fisher was given a pole and a circle of cardboard, upon which was marked the number of times he was entitled to fish. Thus equipped, he went up on the bridge and fished in the pond. Tickets were also sold by the bridge keepers. Refreshments were served, and there were candy and cake tables and two stalls where fancy articles were sold.
One of these stalls bore the sign
"Fish Market." Here fish of many brilliant colors and quaint shapes were for sale; there were blotters, shaving cases, pin cushions and sachet bags. On the cake table were many toothsome fishes—chocolate and clear candy fishes and boxes of candy decorated with water color and pen and ink sketches, also sandwiches cut out with fish-shaped tin cutters, also cookies and small iced cakes. At intervals singing and tableaux may be given for variety.

Her First Impressions.

"The first impression is the one you should always go by," the little grass widow advised. "I know by experience. I have never yet had a husband that I liked at first sight. He always had to win me. Then, after I had been married awhile, I invariably went back to my first impression of dislike that kept on getting worse and worse till I had to leave him. I shall never marry again," she finished, "unless I fall head over heels in love with him the first minute I meet him."

Left Him Pleasant Thoughts.

Doctor—"Now, don't worry, whatever you do. A man with heart disease can't afford to worry. Avoid all company of any kind, drink nothing whatsoever, and on no account touch meat and vegetables. By the bye, I won't be able to call again till Wednesday, as I have to attend the funerals of three patients."

Best Cure For Sleeplessness.

Brain workers are particularly liable to sleeplessness. Their occupation brings overstrain of the nervous system and when they go to bed they toss upon restless pillows. The cure is ozone, and not drugs.

Women of Great Bravery.

Women are not, as a class, either moral or physical cowards. In personal bravery they far excel the majority of men when faced by an emergency. Some of their achievements are worthy of record among the heroic deeds of the race. Lady Baker, an English woman, was such an absolute stranger to fear that she would walk alone into the tents of the most ruthless slave dealer and calmly lead off his captives from under his very eyes, and Mrs. Marlon Mulhall, who risked death a dozen times and triumphed over the strongest man in the dark wild country that lies between the Amazon and the Andes, is a woman of such a frail and delicate appearance that one might think a March wind would blow her away.

A Dog Worth Knowing.

Two years ago a boy 14 years old named Edward Sweeney, living at Op-elika, Ala., was followed home by a small dog. The animal was bob-tailed and squint-eyed and by no means good looking, and the boy was laughed at for having him around.
Within a week, however, the dog brought home a five-dollar bill in his mouth. The next week he brought a silver dollar. Then he brought a pocket knife, and followed that with a dollar bill. There has hardly been a week in these two years that the dog has not found something. He makes it his business to hunt the streets and highways, and often travels a distance of 30 miles. Up to the present date he has found and brought home $38
in cash, besides many useful things.

First Autograph Album.

The first autograph album appeared in Germany in that century; it was called the "Album Amicorum," and was an octavo book, bound lengthwise. Among the Egerton manuscripts in the British museum there is such an album dated 1554. The oldest obtainable letters date back about 500 years, and the oldest documents are dated about 1,000 years ago.

Owens Perfect Diamond.

In the possession of Mrs. E. A.
Montgomery, San Francisco, whose husband sold the famous Bullfrog mine to Charles M. Schwab for $5,000,000, is the only flawless, genuine coffee-
brown diamond known in the world.
It weighs three and one-quarter carats and has no fixed value. Offers for it ranging from $15,000 to $50,000 have been made and refused.

Sayings of Childhood.

Little Marian, aged three, was attacked with a severe case of hiccoughs.
Being asked what was the trouble and what she was doing, she answered, saying: "Oh, my appetite has the jig-gles."

THE RICKSHAW AND DANDY.

Primitive Modes of Travel in Hill Country of India.

In the mountain districts of India
the principal vehicles of passenger conveyance are the rickshaw and the "dandy," with which Rudyard Kipling has made us familiar. United States Consul Gen. Michael, of Calcutta, writes thus about these vehicles:
"The rickshaw is pushed and pulled through the streets and on the roads leading out into the country by four coolies, and the 'dandy' is carried on the shoulders of four and sometimes six coolies. Saddle ponies are also used to some extent but most of the inhabitants and quite all visitors used the rickshaw and 'dandy.' The latter is constructed on the plan of a sleigh box, but longer. A pole is attached fore and aft, which is long enough to give a springy motion when the coolies are walking and trotting. A cross piece rests on the shoulders of the coolies and is shifted now and then from one shoulder to the other for rest. By the command of the coolie in charge this shift is made simultaneously. As a rule, both the rickshaws and the 'dandies' are heavier than they need to be, and they are generally lacking in finish. Yet these vehicles cost as much as light and strong ones well finished should cost. The writer would like to place alongside of the rickshaws and 'dandies' in use in India, some samples manufactured in the United States after designs made by an American designer. The samples would attract orders."

Speaking of Fathers.

Two kids had been engaged in a heated argument over the respective merits of their sires, when Johnnie elbowed his argument with the following: "Juh, that's nothing! My father was in the army, and once, when he was standing on a hill beside a cannon, a war came up the hill, and he fired the cannon and killed the whole war."—Judge's Library.

New Variety of Cotton.

An Indian government report describes the results of experiments with Caravonica cotton, a tree variety in Queensland, as tending to prove that it will succeed as a field crop, so much so that the experiments will be considerably extended.

For a cold or a cough take Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is better than any other cough remedy because its laxative principle assures a healthy, copious action of the bowels and at the same time it heals irritation of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes and allays inflammation of the mucous membrane. Contains honey and tar, pleasant to take. Children like it. Conforms to the National Pure

Big Reductions in Ladies Suits

WING to the fact that we have been kept hustling night and day getting ready for the Grand Opening of our big store at Kenosha, Wis., which will take place Saturday, May 25, we are unable this week to quote you prices, but, following our policy of not carrying goods over from one season to another, we will offer you astonishing reductions on all Eton and Bolero Suits.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Returning explorers from the neighborhood of Jamestown report it in much the same condition as when first discovered by Capt. John Smith.

Now it is claimed with some show of reason, that Willis Moore, the chief of the weather bureau, is in cahoots with the bulk clique in the wheat market.

Gen. Kuroki has visited Washington and departed without expressing a single opinion on the San Francisco school question. Those Japs are diplomats as well as fighters.

Farmers who are raising wheat at fifty cents a bushel ought to be able to get some consolation out of the fact that it is selling at a dollar a bushel on the Chicago exchange.

Under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy a vigorous crusade will be started against all derelicts. Col. Bryan ought to be thankful that the navy department does not operate on land.

Lillian Russell's daughter has just secured a separation from her husband. Looks as though the Russell family ought to buy their marriage certificates with a divorce coupon attached.

Modern society doubtless makes a mistake in not finding something for idle women to do. The idle woman is the menace of latter-day civilization. It is tolerably certain that there are more busy women and more idle men in this country than were assembled under one flag. The idle would like to find something to do. They turn their ennui to bridge whist, to amateur philanthropy, to church-sociable charity, to visiting and gossip. The old story that "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do" is daily exemplified. The Catholic church in its wisdom, uniform hundreds of its female children and sets them to work nursing the sick, teaching the young, and at other more or less useful employments, but there are millions within and without the church who are living under the distracting burden of idleness. It is a malady of modern high pressure civilization. Only a percentage of women can be married and rear children, and not all who have these opportunities will improve them or take care of their children. There is something radically wrong in a civilization that has so many bars to motherhood, the crown of woman's existence.

It looks from a white house viewpoint as though there were going to be war in Ohio after all. Boss Cox of Cincinnati said he was ready to come out of retirement and be a party to any old sort of harmony. Secretary Taft said all he wanted was harmony and even Senator Foraker said he would like a little harmony in his too. But it developed on further inspection that what they all wanted was different brands of harmony. Senator Foraker said that on consideration, he found the sort of harmony he was expected to be a party to would involve an easy chair and a cooling drink in some retired spot where the turmoil of public life would not disturb him. This was not what he wanted. Rest was not what he was after, he only wanted recreation. Boss Cox said he spoke only for himself, just the way he has usually worked when there was anything doing. And Secretary Taft who has not been saying much, found that the harmony program was off and has continued to maintain a discrete silence. It will be war to the knife till the elections in Ohio a year hence. It will mean from present appearances the political death of Senator Foraker or the extinction of Mr. Taft's presidential prospects. If it results in divorcing the Taft forces from the alliance with Mr. Cox, there will not be much cause for regret. The record made by the boss of Cincinnati while effective in practical politics, is not enviable from an ethical standpoint. It is to be hoped that a trace may be arranged within the state party, but the sort of a peace that was promised was a little worse than war.

My Best Friend.

Alexander Benton, who lives on Rural Route 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend! It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. The first bottle ended the terrible cough, and this accomplished, the other symptoms left one by one, until she was perfectly well. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equalled it. Fully guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

BROTHER SMOTHERS A VICTIM.

Suffered Much Because of Suspicion of Colonel Slaughter.

"I dess wants to speefy," disgruntledly said Brother Smothers, "dat Cuhnel Slaughter am de moss s'picious white gen'leman I ever had de pleasure of witnessin'!" "How's dat?" inquired Brother Humtoon. "Uh-well, sah, lemme 'numerate: Tudder night—Friday, 'twuz—de cuhnel goes out to his henhouse, a spell after de moon sets, softly opens de little high-up do' at de back of de edifice, and draps a big-moufled scoun'rel of a bulldog inside, and den shets and fastens de little do' and runs around to de big do' on de front side." "Name o' gracious! 'Whit did he do all dat for?" "Uh-kaze of his blamed s'picion, dat's what for! And dat wasn't de wust of it, needer! I was inside of de henhouse at de time, and dat ding-busted bulldog sufficed hisself to much pugnacity in a voice of thunder, and we revolutionized dar in de darkness like one of dese yuh merry-go-rounds. 'Twuz a shame, de way dat varmint acted! He bit me, he did, as plenty as de sands on de seashore, and we went over and under and round and round like fightin' fish. And den when I finally dislocated de big do' and busted thro' it, de cuhnel let drive at me wid a scatter gun loaded wid rock salt. But, bless goodness, I had a runnin' start, and but little of de salt hit me, uh-kaze I outtrew de most of it. And dat's de way dat s'picious white gen'leman treat me; yassuh, dat's de way!" "Well, Brudder Smothers, it looks as if he knowed yo' was in de henhouse." "Yassah, it 'pears like he's s'picted it, anyhow. Dat man am painf'ul s'picious, dess lemme tell yo'!"—Puck.

All the Difference.

Attorney General Hadley of Missouri condemned in an address at Topeka before the State Bar association, certain trust methods. "I am sure," he said, "that we all want to see laws enacted that will give a square deal to everybody. We want, all over the world, as little as possible of that thing which is exemplified in the anecdote of the Syracuse widow. She lost every cent she possessed through the speculations of some dishonest bank official. In discussing the matter with her, a minister said, soothingly: 'The thieves will be punished, maybe. They're committed for trial.' 'Yes,' said the widow, 'they're committed for trial, it is true; and my child and I are condemned to hard labor for life.'"

It has been definitely stated that the plans of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric road are at present, to extend the Fox Lake line as far as Fox Lake next year. The line will have extended north to Milwaukee by that time and the officers will then turn their attention to the westward extension. Just what points line will touch in its westward course has not yet been made known but is certain to touch all the important places on the route and especially the lakes.

Phil Smith who has been engaged in the mercantile business at Maringo for many years, recently disappeared and his whereabouts are as yet unknown. Diligent search has so far failed to give any clew. He was last seen at Oak Park, where he has relatives living. As proprietor of the Bee Hive store at Marengo, Mr. Smith is a well known man. Foul play is suspected. He was known to have a large sum of money on his person.

Miles O'Hare, of Chicago, a fisherman at Round Lake, stopping at Geo. Renahan's had a narrow escape from drowning Sunday afternoon of last week. While out fishing he fainted and toppled from his boat upsetting it and precipitating himself fishing tackle and all into the water. But for the fact that a friend who was not far off witnessed the accident and came to his assistance at once he would surely have perished. As it was after he was rescued it was fully two hours before he revived.

If the State's attorney should decide to take steps for investigating the "Spirit Fruit" farm at Wauconda it is quite evident that he will not have to do so alone if he should wish for aid. It is stated that the Lake County Law and Order League feel that it is within the bounds of its work to look after such matters as well as the violation of the liquor laws. And that Secretary Quayle has expressed his willingness to help investigate the matter and see if all that is said about the colony is true or not.

Good Substitute for Bell.
N. C. Goodwin, the actor, described at a dinner a Turkish bath that he once took in Mexico. "My rubber," said Mr. Goodwin, "was a strong man, a very strong man. He laid me on the slab and prodded and kneaded and punched and hammered me in a most emphatic way. At the end, after I had got up, he came behind me before my sheet was adjusted, and gave me on the bare back four resounding whacks with the palm of his enormous hand. 'What on earth did you do that for?' I panted, staggering. 'No offense, boss,' said the man. 'It was only to let the office know I was ready for the next bath. You see, the bell's out of order in this room.'"

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discolors and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of the Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free also pamphlet telling many of the things all about it, including testimonials from thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Let me mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write for my free book now. Dr. Shoop's Restorative sold by all dealers.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.
"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at J. H. ## CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit; else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel-capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety cream like Petroleum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, biliousness, bad taste, etc., surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative. For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used, but

SECRET OF GOOD MANNERS.

Two Theories of the Acquisition—Unselfishness and Conventionality.

Most mothers hold, consciously or unconsciously, one of two theories about the acquirement of manners by their children. One mother says, "Manners are only the outward sign of the inner nature. If my daughter has a kind heart and a well trained mind she will behave in a gentle, charming fashion. I will teach her compassion, respect for age, unselfish zeal for helping with the world's work. Her manners will take care of themselves." Another mother says, "My girls will never get on without conventional manners. They shall be taught from babyhood to emulate the speech and bearing of ladies. They shall be instructed in the proper behavior for every occasion. They shall walk and dance and write and speak with graceful perfection." Neither method, says the Youth's Companion, produces altogether satisfactory results. Unselfishness is truly the foundation of good manners, but not the superstructure. Many conventional restrictions have grown about social relations. Some can be explained by the demand of kindness and some cannot.

In Grip's Deadly Wake.
Persons of advanced years especially should guard against the grip. With them it is likely to attack the heart. The most ordinary cases, in persons of all ages, sometimes develop into appendicitis, neuritis, pneumonia or bronchitis. Medical scientists have only just convinced themselves of its close relationship to those diseases.

Senator Berry, whose intentions were plainly to pass an anti-cigarete bill of some kind to stand alongside the local option bill which he fathered seems to have skated over all the thin ice in the constitution.

Up to Courts Now.

His cigarete bill, now being enrolled and engrossed, would leave it up to the courts to determine whether or not tobacco is injurious to health. If it were so decided, then cigaretes could not be sold in the state. He did not draft it in that way, but the house tacked on an amendment prohibiting the sale of cigaretes containing "anything injurious to health, including tobacco."

Bill was Passed.

In this shape it was passed last Sunday morning. There was only a corporal's guard of senators holding down the upper house at that hour, but Mr. Berry took the bill from the clerk of the house and hurried across the way with it. The senate journal shows that a constitutional majority concurred in the senate amendments. Originally, the bill was designed merely to prevent minors from smoking cigaretes in public places.

Pure Food Welcome.

Much interest is manifested in the operation of the new state pure food law, which has been approved by the governor, and which will go into effect July 1 next.

Friends of the bill claim that it will have a lasting and beneficial effect in restricting the sale and distribution of adulterated and poisonous food stuffs in Illinois. State Commissioner A. Hanby Jones, and State Chemist Bryan, have given the measure some study, and they say the Illinois law is the best and most stringent law on the statute books of any state, and in many respects superior to the national law on which it is founded.

Herman B. Meyers, publisher of the American Food Journal, was active in the preparation and progress of the law. He declares the provisions of the measure are fair to both the dealer and the consumer, and that when it is enforced, it will work out admirably.

Provides for State Commission.

One of the most important sections of the new law aside from those pertaining particularly to the definitions and standards is that calling for the appointment of a state standard commission of three members which will determine and adopt standards of quality and strength for food products. This commission will be composed of the state food commissioner, A. Hanby Jones; a representative of the Illinois food manufacturing industries and an expert food chemist of known reputation. These last two members will be appointed by the governor. The commission has delegated to it under the law powers similar to that of the national commission regarding the regulating of standards.

The new law also increases the staff of the food commissioner, giving him six additional inspectors, an attorney, three more chemists, two more stenographers and a chief clerk. This increase of the office force was deemed necessary on account of the additional work that will be placed on the shoulders of the office.

Oleomargarine Law Unaffected.

Mr. Meyers called attention to the fact that a special section has been incorporated in the law, declaring that nothing in the new law shall be taken as repealing the present oleomargarine law. On account of the wording of several of the sections it was feared that the new law would grant a loop-hole of some sort for the oleomargarine manufacturers, but the section referred to is said to prevent this.

The definition of "food" in the Illinois law is one of the points in which it is supposed to surpass the national law. The Illinois law definition of "food" for the purposes of the bill is as follows:

"The term food as used herein shall include all articles used for food, drink, confectionery, condiment by man or other animals, whether simple, mixed or compound, and any substance used as a constituent in the manufacture thereof."

This last phrase was inserted to include yeast, baking powder and other ingredients that are said not to be covered under the national law.

Will Reform Candy Making.

The candy manufacturers of the state will be interested in the section referring to the adulteration of confectionery. The original list of prohibited substances, including terra alba, barytes, talc, chrome yellow and mineral fillers, has been added the substance paraffin. This will prevent the use of paraffin, which is nondigestible, in stiffening chocolates and other candies.

A section that is expected to do away with the use of injurious extracts is that which was prepared by Mr. Meyers and Dr. Eaton. This calls for the labeling of the extract where more than one principle is used and means that where an adulterant is used, as is the case in all cheap extracts, the fact shall be stated on the label. Much discussion among physicians and others has been caused over the use of inferior extracts, and this section when enforced is expected to do away with most of the trouble.

Milk Inspection Suits Dairymen.

The milk inspection section, after much discussion, is one that is said to be satisfactory to a majority of the dairymen of the state. The place of inspection for milk shall be the place of sale and not the distributing point.

The new law gives the state food inspector and his assistants the right to seize "suspected" food, but it also protects the retailer by forcing the inspector to leave a duplicate measure of the article seized, so that it can be analyzed by the owner in case a defense is made to the seizure by the inspectors.

State Inspector Jones is expected in Chicago next week to confer with the leading manufacturers regarding the means to be taken to enforce the new law. It will not go into effect until July 1, but many changes must be made in the labeling of goods and other matters. Following the lead taken by Dr. Wiley concerning the national law, Commissioner Jones, it is believed, will ask the co-operation of the dealers instead of resorting to drastic measures at once. A conference of this sort will probably be held in Chicago next week, at which the different phases of the new law will be discussed.

NO MUSIC IN ATLAS OF ILLINOIS.

Absent mindedness is generally attributed to studious old gentlemen or young people in love. The last reason may fit this cause, although the interested person absolutely denies it.

A certain young lady in the city has been trying lately to take a music lesson and for two weeks has failed, on account of social engagements, to get to her teacher.

Last evening, she finally managed to get there, and as she entered the studio, exclaimed:

"Well, I've come at last to take my lesson."

"Good," said the teacher, "we'll get right to work."

The girl seated herself at the piano rolled out her sheet music and spread it on the piano. They both prepared to start. Both looked at the music. Both looked at each other and then both started to laugh.

Spread out on the music rack of the piano was the atlas of Illinois. The girl in her haste of leaving home had picked up the atlas instead of her sheet music.

ROLLER SKATES LEAD TO MATCH OF CHICAGOANS

GIRL LAST SEEN SKATING;
NEXT SEEN A YOUNG MATRON.

Chicago Society Received Surprise
When It Learned of Marriage
Performed Here Latter Part of Week.

At 7 o'clock Friday evening, Miss Bessie Griffiths, of Chicago, was roller skating up and down the sidewalk in front of her mother's home at 1186 Sheridan Road in that city. Considerably less than twenty-four hours later she had become the heroine of an elopement, and had changed her name to Mrs. Daniel F. Boyer, the ceremony taking place in Waukegan.

Never was a mother more greatly surprised than was Mrs. William Griffiths when she learned that her daughter had become a bride. It came to her at second hand over the telephone. Young Boyer notified his mother and she told Mrs. Griffiths.

Both families are prominent on the North Side. Mrs. Griffiths is the widow of William Griffiths, a wealthy wholesale dealer in plumbers' supplies, who was at one time an Alderman from the Twenty-fifth Ward, and R. L. Boyer, father of the young man, is an influential operator on the Board of Trade.

The Griffiths reside at 1186 Sheridan Road and the Boyers at 1180. He is only 22 and she is still younger.

A formal wedding has been planned for June 1, and little did any of the friends who saw Miss Griffiths roller skating Friday evening dream that before another nightfall she would upset the fond calculations of two households and of the whole neighborhood by running away to be married.

DID TELEPHONE MANAGER HUG
OPERATORS?

Charged with having hugged and kissed nineteen pretty telephone operators in his employ, John P. Garner, former member of the Cook county board of commissioners and present manager of the Oak Park and Austin exchanges of the Chicago Telephone Company, who has a country place at Fox Lake, faces possible removal from his position.

The nineteen girls assert that they have signed a petition which they will submit to the telephone company tomorrow, demanding that Garner be given his walking papers.

Mr. Garner Makes Reply.

Mr. Garner arrived home from Fox Lake at 1:45 o'clock this morning and when questioned regarding the girls' allegations, refused to discuss them.

"The whole matter is now in the hands of W. R. Abbott, superintendent of the Chicago Telephone Company," he said. "I think much of the trouble is due to Mrs. Uden, who took offense because I criticized her daughter severely in connection with her work."

"What about the other girls' reports that you were too affectionate toward them?" he was asked.

"I have just got home and am tired. I'll tell my side of the story today and the company knows all about this anyway," was his reply.

VOLIVA PREDICTS RUIN.

Declaring that Zion would be sold under the hammer unless he was "backed up," General Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva delivered a tirade at the tabernacle in Zion City yesterday afternoon such as has not been heard in a great many months.

He charged internal grafting among high ecclesiastics, but named no one and did not go into details.

"Unless there are some changes shortly," he said, "there will be some removals from the cabinet. I will not stand for under-handed work. There are a number in Zion City who have adopted 'Down with Voliva,' as their only plank. It is a rotten plank. I am not down and out. I have worked myself up to my present position from a salary of $65 a month and I intend to keep it."

LANDIS RECOGNIZES LEWIS AS REAL TRUSTEE.

Judge Landis in granting a motion for an order of revivor in the bankruptcy proceedings against the estate of the late John Alexander Dowle, "first apostle" of Zion City, yesterday morning recognized Deacon John A. Lewis as trustee and one of the executors of the estate, so named by Dowle in his will shortly before he died. The litigation in the federal courts will now proceed against Deacon Lewis, Jane Dowle, A. J. Gladstone Dowle and Fielding H. Wilhite and James F. Peters, who were named as the second and third executors by Dowle in his will.

That the order of Judge Landis reviving the case with the executors in Dowle's place will not shear Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva of his present leadership of the Zionites or cause any disruption in the organization was the statement of Attorney Pegler for the executors.

CHOPPING BOWL FACTORY THE VERY FIRST.

Taken from Daily SUN.

Still another early factory has been added to the already long list obtained through the research of the SUN, and this one is claimed to be the very first that ever located in Waukegan.

It was a factory which made chopping bowls of all sizes and was located just south of the Genesee street bridge where Welch's saloon now stands. The side of the hill there was a slow then and a creek ran into the ravine by the Sherman House. The boys used to pick water cross from the creek.

The wood for the chopping bowls was cut in the city. Large cotton wood trees were cut behind the old Catholic cemetery in what is now Lyon's and Burnette's subdivision.

These were taken to the factory and cut into blocks. The bowls were then turned out by horse power.

The factory was located here over 50 years. W. A. Melloy stated to a SUN reporter and he can remember when he and the other boys of that day used to jump into the piles of shavings that littered the sides of the ravine around the factory.

The factory was run by a man named Thompson and the boys called him "Butter Bowl" Thompson.

STEAM ROLLER INJURIES FORM-ER ZION CITY BOY.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Howard, former residents of Zion City, now living in Los Angeles, Cal., will greatly regret to hear that, a short time ago, one of their twin sons, Thomas, Jr., while playing in the street where a steam roller was being used fell under the ponderous machine with the result that his left arm was so crushed that it had to be amputated four or five inches from the shoulder. The little fellow is reported to be getting along nicely.

Identifying the Twins.

There were once two fellows in our town that were twin brothers. They looked so much alike that their most intimate friends could not tell them apart. Lem had no teeth and Dave had. Still they looked precisely alike just the same. The only way you could tell them apart was to stick your finger in Lem's mouth, and if he bit you it was Dave.—Judge's Library.

"Pilgrim's Progress" on Stage.

A dramatic version of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" has been presented at the Imperial theater, London. The ten scenes, which are said to have been finely staged, were accompanied by old English music, and the whole production was a great success.

The Pernicious Salt Habit.

Dr. H. W. Wiley makes the very important announcement in connection with his official health statistics that we are now using 29 per cent. more salt than we were 25 years ago. He also says that we are having 30 per cent. more kidney diseases "recently."

Needed His Hair Long.

In the almshouse of Beamster, England, is a man whose hair hangs down over his shoulders. The master of the institution explains that he has not had the man's hair cut, because in summer he "travels for a hair restorer."

BARTORIAL NEWS.

Short Sleeves Are Doomed—Jeweled Umbrella Handles—In Gun Metal.

Short sleeved waists are doomed. They are fast being packed away, and those who predicted that women would be thankful for any sleeves at all before the summer was over seem bound to lose caste as oracles. The public unfortunately caught on too soon, for fads must grow by degrees. All the working girls that throng the business sections each day took to wearing lingerie waists and golf and tennis shirts with elbow sleeves, and exclusive people ceased to care for such attire. It is part of the game for the elect to start fashions of this sort and watch them die in the street.

Evening Waist.

Umbrella handles are most effective, particularly the more subdued ones, such as gun metal set with moonstones, onyx in a narrow band of gold or tortoise shell inlaid with silver. Sometimes a lump of mother-of-pearl forms an umbrella handle. This is ruinous to gloves, but is a most effective handle nevertheless. Some of the French enameled are beautiful for this purpose worked up in the same way as cigarette cases with monograms and painted initials.

Pale yellow muslin makes this attractive little evening blouse. The distinguishing features are the lace collar and tie and bows of lace on the sleeves.

JUDITH CHOLLET.

HE SHADOWED HIS WIFE

Now the United States Has Grabbed Him for Alleged Tampering with the Mails.

East St. Louis, Ill., May 20.—Disguised as a tramp stableman for a year and shadowing his wife, Pearl, aged 23, to the postoffice at Cartersville to learn whether she was mailing a letter to a former sweetheart, George W. Miles, of Jewett, N. Y., now finds himself indicted by the federal grand jury here on the charge of tampering with the mails.

Miles denies that he intercepted his wife's letter to Seelye Brackett, of Jewett, and destroyed the missive after reading it. He alleges that the indictment is the result of a conspiracy between his wife and the man to whom she was writing, to get him into jail while she obtained her divorce. Mrs. Miles is living at Clifford with her parents. Miles is in jail in default of bail.

Gasoline Tank "Let's Go."

Du Quoin, Ill., May 20.—A popcorn gasoline tank exploded here, frightfully burning two boys, Wiley Slesmore and Robert Bonch, and the former's sister, Miss Ella Slesmore. The trio were standing near the machine when the explosion occurred. Bonch is thought to have inhaled the flames and is horribly burned about the face and head. The victims are in a critical condition.

Will Try to Secure a Veto.

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—Representatives of several of the big railroad systems in Illinois will have a hearing next Wednesday afternoon before Governor Deneen on the 2-cent passenger rate bill passed at the recent session of the general assembly. Officials of the various lines will try to convince the governor that a 2-cent fare will work an injustice upon them.

Total Legislative Appropriations.

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—A compilation of the appropriations bill passed shows an aggregate of $21,094,290.35. As soon as the attorney general's department reports its opinions upon the several appropriations from a constitutional standpoint, the governor will take up the task of trimming down the total amount to the $10,000,000 limit decided upon.

Greatest Horseback Ride.

The greatest ride on horseback ever done up to his time was done by Cowper Thornhill, Huntingdonshire, England, April 29, 1745, who rode 213 miles in 12 hours and 17 minutes to win a wager of 500 guineas.

LAKE PASSES SUBMERGED TEST WELL

NEW RECORD MADE FOR LIFE UNDER THE SURFACE.

Lake, Whitney's Boat, Kept in Touch With Surface All Time By Means of the Telephone.

—All Well.

Up from the bottom of the bay, at Newport, R. I., came the submarine boat Octopus and Lake, late yesterday afternoon after their twenty-four hours continuous submergence test. One by one the twenty-three men on board filed out of the conning towers, none looking any the worse for his experience.

New records of sustained life under the sea had been made, seventeen hours for which a party on the submarine boat Fulton was submerged at New Suffolk, L. I., in the spring of 1902, having been the previous record.

Later, in 1902, a party lived twelve hours on the Fulton submerged at the torpedo station. A little after 3 o'clock Capt. Marx sent forward orders for the Octopus to come up at 3:30 o'clock. Her tanks were blown out first and at 4:23 o'clock the hatch over the conning tower slowly moved upward and Capt. Cable appeared.

"Good afternoon," he said as he stood up and looked around. Then there came forth one by one the members of his crew. They looked very much as they did when they went down the narrow way into the bowels of the boat, twenty-four hours before.

Can Stay Down 43 Days.

Capt. Cable said he had used about one forty-fourth of the stored air in his boat, from which he estimated that, so far as air was concerned, he could have remained below, forty-three days longer. He says they ate and slept below just about as they would have done had they been in their homes.

Then Capt. Lake was ordered to bring up the Lake at 4 o'clock. Capt. Lake said:

"We could easily have remained submerged for another twenty-four hours. We used a comparatively small supply of compressed air, in fact, not much more than 200 pounds, and this was not applied until near the end of the test. If we had used ozone, of which we had plenty on board, and if we had been allowed to open our diving door to admit water to the diving compartment, with which to force out the carbonic acid gas, we would have drawn very little if at all, upon our supply of compressed air. With all the Lake's various air disposing arrangements in use a crew in the boat could easily stand a submergence of three days."

The occupants of the boat disposed themselves comfortably about the boat, after the hatches were sealed, on Wednesday. All hands, save a one man watch, turned in at 10 o'clock and slept peacefully until breakfast, which was served piping hot from the galley electric stove.

On the Octopus, Capt. Cable and his men dined Wednesday evening off a meat pie, cooked in their galley. The air was changed about 1 o'clock this afternoon, when that which had become foul was blown out and the atmosphere replenished with pure air from the compressed flasks. A sample of the air in each boat was taken in a bottle at stated periods, and this will be examined for carbonic acid gas and chlorine gas, which are very noxious and may have been generated during the four hours the engines were under way.

The board found the atmosphere of the boats in a generally good condition.

Most Wasteful of Cooks.

To live to waste seems an unwelcome maxim of English life. Our cooking, the cooking of our working and agricultural classes, is about the most wasteful cookery on earth. The French peasant will live, and live well, on what we discard. It is said that one hundred millions sterling a year are added to the national wealth of France by the saving habits of her people.—C. B. Fry's Magazine.

THE CORSETS.

He Did It to Display Costumes Made by His Ladylove.

SHE WAS ANOTHER'S WIFE.

Swartz's Amiability Led to Domestic Jars, and Now Mrs. Hammond Sues For Divorce—Her Husband Gets Back at Her.

In her deposition, taken in Jefferson City, Mo., Lillie Marie Ehrhardt, a witness for Thomas Lewis Hammond, who is being sued for a divorce by his wife, Rosa Lee Hammond, says that a traveling salesman named Swartz paid Mrs. Hammond a great deal of attention, even going so far as to wear a corset in order to better display costumes made by Mrs. Hammond.

This, she deposed, was during the dressmakers' convention held in St. Louis in 1904. Swartz, she said, acted as model for Mrs. Hammond.

The attorney taking the deposition asked her, "Do you remember if Mr.

HE FIXED HIMSELF UP AS A MODEL.

Swartz ever represented any person or party at a convention, and if so whom did he represent?"

"Who, if any one, assisted him in dressing?"

"Mrs. Hammond helped him some."

"State if you know or heard he had a corset on beneath the dress."

"I did not know, but I heard it said at the convention that he had a corset on. He looked to me as if he might have had a corset on, but of course I didn't make any examination."

This witness also said that Swartz had written several letters to Mrs. Hammond and that she had seen the two together several times both in St. Louis and in Jefferson City, where Mrs. Hammond also had a dressmaking establishment.

"He made four trips a year, and they were together every day of his stay. At the dressmakers' convention their booths adjoined."

She was asked if the plaintiff ever received a letter from Swartz and said she did when she was in St. Louis at her home on Jefferson avenue.

"He said something in the letter about being up until 2 o'clock drinking cocktails. It was a very comical letter. Mrs. Hammond read the letter to me, but all I can remember is the part about 'cherries and cocktails.'"

These letters were disposed of by burning, so the witness said, "like most of us do. I had a love affair of my own at that time, and that is how I disposed of my letters."

Once when Swartz called on Mrs. Hammond, she said, Mrs. Hammond called Mrs. Hammond out of the room, and Swartz "walked back and forth two or three times. Then he came and sat down on the table where I was at work and said, 'Isn't that woman crazy to live with such a man?'"

Once Mrs. Hammond propounded a hypothetical question to Lillie Marie Ehrhardt, but the witness did not answer it. "Mrs. Hammond asked me," Miss Ehrhardt said, "if it was wrong for a married woman to walk through a park with a single man if he knew the circumstances of her trouble and consoled her."

Realism in the Pulpit.

The Rev. J. B. Hamill of the Hanson Place Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, filled the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church at Sayville, N. Y., on a recent Sunday. He was earnestly preaching from the text, "Look, well to your formation," and leaning heavily on the pulpit desk when suddenly the desk went tumbling off the high platform over the altar rail, nearly hitting the devout laymen in the front seat and scattering the Bible and the preacher's notes among the holders of the pews. The aged preacher barely escaped a tumble over the altar with the heavy desk.

Lightning tore her stockings on. While Robert L. Taylor and Miss Eva Boatler, a schoolteacher, were out driving near Danville, Va., a flash of lightning struck their buggy. The horse was instantly killed, and the young woman's shoes and stockings were torn off. Taylor was severely burned and was rendered unconscious. The remarkable part of the occurrence is that while the lightning tore the apparel from the limbs of the girl she was not injured.

The Tears of Houssan

(Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)

It was just past midnight in the great zoological gardens when one of the elephants who had been nodding in sleep suddenly opened his eyes to their widest extent and threw up his trunk and sucked in the air with a hissing sound. He looked down the long aisle past the cages of the lions and tigers with a steady stare, and when the figure of a man came into view the great beast uttered a crooning, coaxing sound.

The man came swiftly but quietly forward, and the elephant encircled him with his trunk and showed extravagant signs of affection. The lions and the tigers rose up to stare through the bars of their cages at the intruder. Had he been a stranger their growls and roars would have brought the watchman in short order.

"Chanda, my dear, beloved, I have come to talk with thee," whispered the man to the elephant as he stroked his trunk with caressing hand. "They said they would kick me if they found me about the place again, but I have risked that to talk with thee. Dost remember how long ago it was, Chanda, that I was brought here from Bombay to be thy keeper and thy master? Sixteen long years have passed since that day. We were good friends from the start. I treated thee well, and thou gavest me thy friendship. Sixteen long years, Chanda, hath we been good friends, and not one quarrel during that time. Thou hast been ailing, and I hath cured thee. I hath been ailing, and thou hath sympathized with me. Is it not so, dearly beloved?"

Chanda hugged the man and made a gurgling sound in his throat.

"And the other day, after sixteen years—after I have become an old man—after the unbroken period of friendship between us—the manager sent me away at a day's notice. It is true that I drank too much of the strong wine of the country, and that when Janviers of the lions made fun of me I drew my knife and would have stabbed him."

"Then they discharged me." The elephant lifted the man clear of the ground with his trunk and swung him back and forth pendulum fashion. The lions and tigers got up again to look.

"I would not give place to any man, Chanda, but to Janviers least of all. He will be hard on thee. He will prod thee with the iron and beat thee with bars. He will be thy master instead of thy friend. For some other man thou might in time have a liking, but not for Janviers. It is four days since he took charge of thee. Hath he beaten thee yet? Methinks there is a fresh wound on this ear."

The elephant hung his head and rocked to and fro for a moment as if ashamed and humiliated.

"Dost want thy old friend and brother back, Chanda? Aye, thou dost, and there is a way. There is a way, and but one way. The watchmen are asleep and the beasts are quiet, but what I say I shall whisper in thy ear. Listen to the words of Houssan, beloved."

With hands smoothing and caressing the great flapping ear the trainer whispered away for three or four minutes, while Chanda stood so quiet that he seemed turned to stone. Then the whisperer drew back and raised his voice a little and asked:

"Wilt thou do it, old friend—wilt thou do it for thee and me?"

Again the elephant lifted the man with his trunk and swung him to and fro, and the sounds in his throat almost seemed to form words.

"Brave old Chanda," whispered Houssan as he patted the trunk. "Tis for thee and me, that we may be together for years more. Make no bungle over it. If 'twere some one else—some one who had not plotted against thy friend and brother—a broken arm or a few broken ribs might suffice, but with Janviers, no. Make sure, dearly beloved, that it goes beyond that, else you will see me no more. I have said what I have said and must go. If I were caught here I should be treated in a manner to humiliate me in thy sight. One more caress, beloved, and then I go. Tomorrow night I hope to sleep at thy feet again."

When the man had glided away like a ghost the elephant stood quietly for five minutes. There was mischief in his quietness. Then he began weaving to and fro and flinging his trunk about. There was menace in the action. There was no trumpeting; only a sound like the hissing of a great snake.

"I have heard that sound in the forests of India," said one of the tigers to himself, "and it always meant death to something."

When morning came Janviers came with it. It was for him to feed and water the great beast. He was in surly, impatient mood, and he did not notice certain signs that would have told him much.

"Back with you, brute!" he shouted as he flourished the iron bar over Chanda and threatened to bring it down.

A trunk shot forth like a serpent and twined around him. He was lifted high up and given a fling, and when he landed on the stone floor a hundred feet away he no longer lived. The lions and tigers raved and roared and hung themselves against the bars, and the people came running and cried out in their alarm and horror.

That night, clothed in his uniform again and contentment on his face, Houssan slept again at the elephant's feet. As the soft tip of her trunk gave his cheek a good night kiss he caressed it and said:

"Twere well done, dearly beloved. It was for thee and for me, and may the gods of our fathers bless and strengthen our friendship to the last days of our lives." M. QUAD.

PITTSBURG PARANOIA

Millionaire Dramatically Shoots Himself In Theater.

BREAKS UP THE SHOW.

Robert M. Crow, Standing Up In Box, Puts Bullet Into His Chest as Echoes of the Song "Unrequited Love" Are Dying.

While Ethel Levey was singing her famous song, "Unrequited Love," in the Grand Opera House in Pittsburgh Robert M. Crow, heir of one of the wealthiest families in the city, but crazed with the delusion that he had failed in life, sat in a proscenium box, only ten feet from where the singer stood, and calmly prepared for death.

It was a play not down on the boards, and the acme of dramatic effect was reached when this young man, with everything to live for, shot himself in full view of the audience.

As Miss Levey began her song, standing in the center of the stage, the calcium spot light played upon her, and the rest of the house was darkened. No one in the great audience, which included many of the society women of the city, noticed a pale faced young man loading a revolver. He placed a cartridge in every chamber and then calmly awaited the end of the song.

Just as Miss Levey's last note died away and the lights flashed up again the audience saw the tall figure of Crow in the box. In his hand he held the revolver. On his face was an expression that filled the spectators with horror.

Miss Levey, who was recently divorced from George M. Cohan, caught a glimpse of the crazed man at the very moment that the lights were turned on, and for a few seconds she stood rooted to the spot with horror. Then she uttered a scream of fear that could be heard even in the street, and, placing her hands over her eyes, she fled from the stage.

Even as this scream rang out Crow deliberately placed the pistol against his breast and fired. The report was followed by the hysterical screams of the women in the audience as the body of Crow toppled forward over the railing half out of the box. There was a wild rush for the doors.

A brief examination showed that he was mortally wounded, and he was quickly carried through the stage entrance to a Homeopathic hospital ambulance that had been summoned. He lived four days, never regaining consciousness.

It was a queer freak of fate that just as the bearers of Crow's form were placing him in an ambulance they were met by the young man's uncle, Attorney W. G. McEldowney, who had received a letter from his nephew only a short time before announcing his intention of seeking death. Mr. McEldowney was on his way to send out a general police alarm for Crow's arrest. The letter had been written in the stage box and dispatched by a messenger.

Young Mr. Crow lived in a magnificent home at 328 Broadway avenue, in the east end of the city. He married a beautiful girl only a year ago. He did not have a care in the world, but for weeks he had been worrying over his failure to make a vast fortune. He was sent to a sanitarium two months ago, but he showed such marked improvement that he was soon allowed to return to his home.

"Pittsburg paranoia" was the cause of young Crow's act given by H. G. McEldowney, another uncle, who is president of the Union Trust company, the H. C. Frick bank.

"He has been studying the causes of different forms of insanity until he became insane himself," continued Mr. McEldowney. "Robert also for some time had imagined himself to be a failure because he had failed in a couple of years to acquire millions. He was only twenty-two, and he left school two years ago."

"He appeared to think that because in that two years he had not obtained the wealth of a Carnegie or a Frick he was a failure. This delusion really started him, and when he began sitting up all night to read books on insanity it finished the job. His mind became completely unsettled."

EX-MINISTER CONGER DEAD

Was in China During the Boxer Uprising and Was a Veteran of the Civil War.

Pasadena, Cal., May 20.—E. H. Conger, ex-minister to China, died at his home here Saturday afternoon.

Edwin H. Conger was born in Knox

EDWIN H. CONGER.

county, Ill., in 1843. He entered the army as a private during the civil war and attained the rank of captain and was breveted major for bravery before his regiment was mustered out.

He removed to Iowa in 1868 and served that state three years in congress. He was appointed minister to Brazil in 1890 and was transferred to China in 1898, where he was one of the party besieged by the Boxers. He was later minister to Mexico, but resigned that position in 1905.

THEY STAND BY THE PRIEST

Members of a Roman Catholic Parish Carry Off the Church Furnishings to Another Building.

Youngstown, O., May 20.—There was a complete looting of St. Anthony's Italian Roman Catholic church by the members of the congregation who are standing by the acting pastor, Father Lops, a mob of some 3,000 people sweeping down at a signal given by ringing the church bells. When they got through there was not a thing left in the church. Carpets were torn up, seats were taken away, the altar furniture was removed. The congregation had prepared for the moving, having a house next to the lot where they will erect their new church ready to receive the effects, having seceded from the Roman Catholic church.

The movement is a continuance of the defying of Bishop Horman by the congregation. When he ordered Father Lops to vacate the pastorate, the congregation with the exception of a few members, announced that it would stay by Father Lops and refused to allow him to depart.

Schultz Wants Another Judge.

HOW LAJOIE STARTED

Greatest Ball Player Signed First Contract on Back of Envelope.

SALARY WAS $100 A MONTH.

Charles Marston of Fall River, Mass., Was Discoverer of the "Frenchman Who Could Hit a Ball a Mile"—His Story.

The first baseball contract that Napoleon Lajoie of the Cleveland Americans ever signed was written on the back of a common envelope and called for Larry's services for the sum of $100 a month.

The story of how Lajoie broke into the professional game was told recently by Charles Marston of Fall River, Mass.

Back in January, 1896, Marston, then manager of the Fall River club, and Selee, then managing the Boston Nationals, dropped into the office of the sporting editor of the Boston Herald. A few other baseball men were there, including Woodcock, who was once a star pitcher at Brown university.

"I know of a good batter," replied Woodcock. "I don't know his name, but he is a big Frenchman that lives down at Woonsocket. I call myself a pretty fair pitcher, but I haven't anything that he cannot hit all over the field. I can't get the ball past the plate."

As they left Selee rather discouraged Marston in going after Larry. Marston, however, could not get Woodcock's tip out of his mind, and the next morning he went down to Woonsocket.

He did not know the name of the man that he was going for, but when he reached the town of shoes he made inquiries at the depot, but without success. Next he visited a newspaper office, but there they did not seem to know whom he meant.

Finally he stepped into a cafe, and when he said he was after a big Frenchman who could hit a ball a mile he was told that he must mean Larry Lajoie.

He next went to where Larry was employed, and then he was summoned. Marston had neglected to take a contract with him, but an envelope was brought into use, and the greatest ball player that ever lived signed up on that.

"I asked him where he wanted to play," continued Marston, "and he said he wanted to play second. As I had a good second baseman, however, I told him that there was no chance, and he replied that he could play any place except pitch."

As between the major and minor leagues, opportunities are not all on one side. Not only do the major leagues offer chances for men of the minor leagues, but the minors frequently present openings for major league players to make a good livelihood. Among noted former big league performers filling managerial berths in the minor leagues are Jesse Burkett, Joe Kelley, Ducky Holmes, Jack Dunn, Jack Doyle, Park Wilson, Malachi Kittredge and Hugh Duffy.

The gross exaggeration of the size of baseball crowds has already started in. The national game draws well enough without inflating attendances. However, it is not the only sport in which the attendances often are bigger on paper than they are in reality. Football attendances are more nearly correctly estimated than those of any other sport.

Ball players are claimed to be the most negligent of training rules of any body of athletes. Clear smoking and tobacco chewing are common, and they are not noted for temperate eating or early hours.

Olga Nethersole's New Play.

Olga Nethersole recently in Chicago produced for the first time in America "The Awakening," an English translation of Paul Iverley's "La Revell."

The play is a drama full of exciting action laid in modern Paris. It was produced with elaborate scenic effect. Miss Nethersole assumed the role of Therese de Mege and got much applause. Frank Mills, Charles A. Stearnson and Julian Royce also were received well.

THAT ORCHARD INTERVIEW

Prosecuting Attorney Who Investigated the Matter Says There Was No Improper Motive.

Bolse, Ida., May 20.—Prosecuting Attorney Koelsch has completed his investigation of the circumstances under which Harry Orchard, principal witness for the state in the Steunenberg murder case, was interviewed, and presented the district court with a report exonerating from the charge of improper motives all persons connected with the incident.

He found that the only motive that the newspaper men had in interviewing Orchard was to obtain news of him. In announcing the report Judge Wood said that it called for no action, and directed that it be filed.

Mr. Jewett of Chicago has leased of Ed. Howard, for a period of five years, Howard's Mineola Hotel at Fox Lake, for a rental of $5,000 per year. Mr. Howard has long been engaged in the hotel business and the many patrons of his popular place will miss him very much. Mr. Jewett, the new proprietor took possession on Monday of this week. He is a jolly good natured fellow well known in Chicago circles and under his management this resort is sure to retain the same amount of popularity that it has enjoyed in the past.

Alvin Vickers, formerly of this place, was one of the figures in a lawsuit held in Barron County, Wis., last week. The suit was brought to enforce the payment of stock subscriptions to the Chetek canning factory. The case was decided in favor of the plaintiff. Vickers declares that he will fight the collection of his subscription to the last, and will carry the case to a higher court. His defense is that the plant as it now stands is not built according to plans and specifications and the equipment as it now is, is not as the promoters represented that it would be.

PLAYS OIL COMBINE

THE SMITH REPORT A "SCORCH-ER" FOR THE STANDARD.

Railroad Discriminations and "Other Unlawful Devices" Said to Be the Basis of the Petroleum Monopoly.

Washington.—That the history and present operation of the Standard Oil interests "shows throughout the past 35 years a substantial monopolization of the petroleum industry of the country, a deliberate destruction of competition and a consequent control of that industry by less than a dozen men, who have reaped enormous profits therefrom," largely through abuse of transportation facilities, is charged in a report just submitted to President Roosevelt by Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith.

It is shown that the Standard controls not only the wholesale, but also the retail trade in oil.

It is the first official statement of the operations and methods of the Standard Oil company, by which, the report states, through "scandalous railway discriminations," and other unlawful devices, they have secured and maintained an "exclusive domination of the petroleum industry."

It is stated that in 1904 the Standard and affiliated concerns refined over 84 per cent of the crude oil run through refineries; produced more than 86 per cent of the country's total output of illuminating oil; maintained a similar proportion of the export trade in illuminating oil; and transported through pipe lines nearly nine-tenths of the crude oil of the older fields and 98 per cent of the crude oil of the mid-continent field.

The report shows that the great magnitude of the Standard's operations has been attained through unfair and predatory practices, involving the extermination or crippling of rivals and the preventing of the rise of new ones through the use of vexatious and oppressive methods. It establishes that the policy of the corporation has been "a deliberate destruction of competition" and "a consequent control of the industry by less than a dozen men who reaped enormous profits therefrom."

The report points out the monopoly enjoyed by the company does not rest on the ownership of the source of the oil supply, which amounts to about only one-sixth of the total, but "that its growth and present power rest primarily on the control of the transportation facilities."

After the railroad rebate was abandoned, the company, the report continues, was able to "establish a system of secret, or open discriminations of rates in its favor throughout practically the entire country. Having established its monopoly of the pipe line business, the company substantially refuses to act as a common carrier."

In conclusion, the report says it is apparent that the dominating position of the Standard Oil company in the oil industry has largely been secured by the abuse of transportation facilities, first, by flagrant discriminations obtained from railroads; second, by a refusal to operate its pipe line system so as to extend to independent interests the benefits to which they were both morally and legally entitled, "while at the same time the Standard has prevented such independent interests from constructing lines of their own."

Ask for One-Tenth of Income.
Washington.—The adoption of resolutions in favor of the movements to ask the Baptists of the country to give one-tenth toward the advancement of the work of Christ and urging the president to inquire into the reasons why the Kongo question has not been settled, were the features of the fourth session of the American Baptist Missionary Union in this city. More than 2,000 delegates were in attendance.

President Roosevelt received the delegates and their friends at the White House.

Panama Official to Resign.
Washington.—David W. Ross, general purchasing agent of the Panama canal commission, will resign shortly to become president of a large manufacturing concern in Chicago. Although he has not formally presented his resignation, he has let it be known that he desires to relinquish his position with the canal commission. Mr. Ross has not fixed upon the time for leaving the government service, but will leave it at the convenience of the commission.

W. F. Riley Chosen President.
Milwaukee.—William F. Riley, of the Chicago & North-Western road, headquarters in Chicago, was unanimously elected president of the Railroad Association of Special Agents and Police of the United States and Canada at the closing session of the convention.

Jail Delivery Foiled.
Chicago.—A plot to blow up the Cook county jail was foiled on Saturday when Jailer Whitman discovered a can containing half a pint of nitroglycerine with percussion caps attached. The bomb had been set to explode in the evening.

Probable Telegraph Merger.
New York.—It is persistently rumored that the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have consolidated. Officials of both companies refuse to either affirm or deny the rumor.

ABE RUEF PLEADS GUILTY

EX-FRISCO DICTATOR ADMITS CHARGE OF EXTORTION.

Says He Confesses to Corrupt Practices Because Loved Ones Could Not Stand Long Trial.

San Francisco.—Abraham Ruef, better known as Abe Ruef, the acknowledged adviser of Mayor Schmitz and once the recognized dictator of municipal affairs in San Francisco, pleaded guilty to the charge of extortion in Judge Dunne's court Wednesday. Sentence will be pronounced upon him two weeks hence.

After a private conference with his four attorneys in Judge Dunne's private chambers Wednesday afternoon, and after they had withdrawn from his case because of the resolution he had taken to change his plea and avoid trial, Ruef, to the utter astonishment of the prosecution, arose in court and announced in a dramatic address that, after long and earnest consideration, he had determined to withdraw his plea of "not guilty" and enter a plea of guilty. He asked that the jury be dismissed and the trial abandoned. He declared that his sole motive in accusing himself in open court was to save the lives of those who are nearest and dearest to him, his aged father and mother, his maiden sister and a niece, who, he says could not stand the strain of a long trial.

Ruef's plea of guilty was to the charge of extortion, on which the taking of testimony in his trial was about to begin. The specific charge in the indictment concerned the payment to Ruef of $1,175 by the proprietors of Delmonico's French restaurant to secure for the place permission to sell liquor in private rooms.

San Francisco.—District Attorney Langdon was last night served by Mayor Schmitz's attorneys, Metson, Campbell & Drew and John J. Barrett and C. H. Fairall, with notices of a motion for substitution of trial judge on the ground that Judge Frank H. Dunne is disqualified by bias and prejudice. Accompanying and supporting this motion is a lengthy affidavit by Schmitz in which charges of an extremely sensational nature are made against Rudolph Spreckels, his associates in the bribery graft prosecution, and Judge Dunne himself.

TO INSPECT CANAL ROUTE.

President Roosevelt Will Journey Down Mississippi River.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has accepted the invitations from the governors of a number of states to make a trip down the Mississippi river from some point in middle Illinois or Iowa. He has fixed the time for the journey immediately after the dedication of the McKinley monument at Canton, O., Sept. 30.

The executive will be the guest of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterway association on the voyage, which he will make in order to acquaint himself personally with the importance of the work the inland waterway commission has in hand.

The president was urged by the executives of Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, and Wisconsin to accompany the commission, and to each of the governors he has written a letter indicating his purpose to join the party.

Would Oust Lighting Plants.

St. Louis.—An ouster suit was filed Saturday in the circuit court by Circuit Attorney Sager against the Laclede Gas Light company and the Union Electric Light and Power company. The companies are charged with violation of the anti-trust laws of Missouri, it being alleged they have formed a combine giving them a monopoly on the lighting utilities of St. Louis. It is considered probable a special commissioner will be appointed to hear the evidence in the case.

Delay in Haywood Trial.
Boise, Idaho.—Several of the more important witnesses summoned in behalf of the state in the trial of Wm. D. Haywood for alleged participation in the assassination of former Gov. Steiensen arrived at Boise Sunday. The prosecution had hoped by this time that a trial jury would have been impaneled, but it is now evident that all 12 seats in the jury box will not be satisfactorily filled for several days.

Mrs. Yerkes-Mizner Free.
New York.—Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes-Mizner, widow of Charles T. Yerkes, the millionaire traction promoter, of Chicago and London, Friday was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her youthful husband, Wilson Mizner. By the terms of the decree Mrs. Yerkes-Mizner may resume her maiden name and she is also granted permission to remarry should she choose.

Will Nurse Spanish Prince.
Madrid.—Owing to the many duties requiring her attention Queen Victoria has given up the idea of nursing the prince of the Asturias and a nurse has been obtained for him from the province of Santander.

Killed in Stampede.
Fort Gibson, I. T.—Three negroes were killed and 21 injured in a stampede which occurred when a lamp exploded during the graduating exercises of the colored school here on Saturday night.

THE FIRST SPIKE.

STEPHENSON NOW SENATOR

WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY RATIFIES CAUCUS NOMINATION.

Marquette Man Receives Vote of Every Republican Present for Seat Occupied by Spooner.

Madison, Wis.—The nomination of Isaac Stephenson of Marquette in Republican caucus Thursday night as United States senator to succeed John C. Spooner, resigned, was Friday formally ratified in joint assembly. Mr. Stephenson received 87 votes. State Senator George W. Bird received the complimentary vote of the Democrats and State Senator Jacob Rummel was accorded a similar honor from the Social Democrats. There were 25 absentees.

Mr. Stephenson received the vote of every Republican present. Mr. Stephenson's term will expire March 4, 1909.

Considerable dignity was added to the occasion by the presence of all the state officers and several members of the supreme court. Many women were also present including the wife of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette. There was great cheering when the election was announced. A committee was appointed to wait upon Senator-elect Stephenson who later, appeared before the joint assembly and acknowledged the honor in a few well-chosen words.

Isaac Stephenson is a very wealthy lumberman and banker. He was born in Frederickton, N. B., June 18, 1829. He went to Bangor, Me., in 1840, and a year later moved to Wisconsin, where he worked on a farm. He afterward bought a schooner, which he sailed between Milwaukee and Escanaba, and invested his savings in lumber lands. He is now president and controlling owner in the N. Ludington company, the Peshtigo Lumber company, the Menominee River Boom company, the Stephenson National bank of Marquette. Mr. Stephenson was a member of the Wisconsin legislature from 1866 to 1868 and served in the lower house of congress from 1883 to 1889. He has long been an adherent of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette.

PEST RAVAGES PEACH CROP.

Government Inquiry Shows Prevalence of Terrapin Scale.

Washington.—From every state east of the Mississippi river, and from Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and the province of Ontario, the terrapin scale, the enemy of the peach and other trees, has been reported to the department of agriculture. Specimens of the pests from all that territory have been received by the bureau of entomology.

The department in a circular has called attention to the terrapin scale, in consequence of its wide range of food plants, including both wild and cultivated trees, as a dangerous pest, "which may be controlled, but never eradicated."

Small, parasite four-winged flies are the greatest benefactors in the control of this insect and kerosene emulsion has proved an effective remedy. The government experiments show that the lime sulphur wash, so effective with the San Jose scale and the peach leaf curl, is worthless for the terrapin scale.

O'Brien to Get New Post.
Washington.—It was announced at the state department that Thomas J. O'Brien of Michigan, United States minister to Copenhagen, will become ambassador to Japan in September on the retirement of Luke E. Wright, of Tennessee, who has given notice to the department that he wishes to leave the service at that time.

Signs Sherman's Commission.
Washington.—President Roosevelt's last official act before leaving Washington for a rest in Virginia Friday was to sign the commission of Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois, as a member of the Spanish treaty claims commissions.

Baptists Elect Gov. Hughes.
Washington.—Gov. Charles E. Hughes, of New York, was elected president of the new northern Baptist convention which was organized here Friday.

MUST PAY LEGAL RATES.

Commerce Board Rules That One Carrier Cannot Favor Another.

Washington.—An important circular issued by the interstate commerce commission, contains an administrative ruling which is of special interest both to the railroads and to the shipping public. In it the commission expresses the opinion that "under the law a carrier or a person or corporation operating a railroad or other transportation line cannot, as shipper over the lines of another carrier, be given any preference in the application of tariff rates on interstate shipments."

"In other words, one carrier shipping its fuel material or other supplies over the line of another carrier must pay the legal tariff rates applicable to the same commodities shipped by an individual. The commission suggests that there may be some instances, such as the movement of needed fuel, in which, in order to keep the trains or boats moving, such tariff could be given preference in movement without creating unjust or unwarranted discrimination."

It is said there probably is not a railroad in the country that has to pay the regular tariff on any of its supplies from the initial point to the point of destination.

SPANISH PRINCE IS BAPTIZED.

Ceremony for Heir to the Throne is Performed in Madrid.

Madrid.—The baptism of the heir to the Spanish throne, Prince Alfonso of the Asturias, who was born May 19, occurred in the private chapel of the palace here at noon Saturday.

The ceremonial at the baptism was even more imposing than that connected with the first presentation of the royal child. The chapel of the palace had been richly decorated for the occasion. The ceremony of giving the names to the royal child, Alfonso Polo Cristiano Eduardo Francisco Guillermo Carlos Enrique Eugenio Fernando Antonio, was only of short duration, and after the usual prayers the procession performed and returned to the royal apartments, the child being taken back to her majesty.

London, May 20.—A thanksgiving service for the birth of the heir to the Spanish throne was held in St. James' Roman Catholic church in Spanish place. It was the twenty-first anniversary of the birth of King Alfonso. The service was brilliantly attended. Among those present were representatives of the British royal family and members of the diplomatic corps, including Ambassador Whitelaw Reid.

Mrs. Gould Sues For Divorce.
New York.—Differences of long standing between Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould culminated Saturday in the service of a summons and complaint in suit begun by Mrs. Gould in the supreme court for a limited divorce. Mrs. Gould seeks a decree of separation on the ground of abandonment, and does not make any sensational allegations in her complaint. It is probable that the main legal contest will be on the question of alimony. Since Mr. Gould has lived apart from his wife he has given her $5,000 a month for her maintenance. She asserts that this sum is inadequate, and that her husband's income is sufficient to justify him in paying her twice as much.

C. M. & St. P. Fined for Rebating.
New York.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, through Charles C. Keeler, its counsel, pleaded guilty in the United States circuit court to paying rebates on coffee shipments to the Woolson Spice company, of Toledo, O. Judge Holt imposed a fine of $20,000, which Mr. Keeler paid at once.

Society Man Kills Cab Driver.
Washington.—Gaston Philip, son of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Washington, is charged with the murder of Frank MacAboy, a cab driver. Philip is said to have shot the "cabbie" during a quarrel over a "fare" and when both were under the influence of liquor.

WORN TO A SKELETON.

A Wonderful Restoration Caused a Sensation in a Pennsylvania Town.

Mrs. Charles N. Preston, of Elkland, Pa., says: "Three years ago I found that my housework was becoming a burden. I tired easily, had no ambition and was fading fast. My complexion got yellow and I lost over 60 pounds. My throat was terrible, and there was sugar in the kidney secretions. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y."

My doctor kept me on a strict diet, but as his medicine was not helping me, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once, and soon all traces of sugar disappeared. I have regained my former weight and am perfectly well."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Shoemaker's Last.
The following is taken from a handbill issued by a provincial bootmaker: "The shoemaker is a man of great learning. He is a doctor as well as a surgeon, for he not only heels but performs many cutting operations. He is a fahmonger, for he sells soles and heels. He is a schoolmaster, for he gives good understanding. He is a good speaker, for he always works the thread of his argument, waxes warm to his subject, and holds all to the last."

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself.

Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ill of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down, palmar erythema, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost constantly cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is a monumental fact that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—

"I was a wreck from nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value."

When You Want Pure White Lead, Get It
Probably there is no other article of commerce subjected to so much deterioration and misrepresentation as White Lead.

Out of 18 brands of "White Lead" recently analyzed by the Government Agricultural Experiment Station of North Dakota, 5 contained absolutely no White Lead, 5 less than 15% of White Lead, and only 3 over 90% of White Lead.

There is, however, a way to be certain of the purity and genuineness of the White Lead you buy, and that is to see that the keg you buy bears the Dutch Boy trade mark. This trade mark is a positive guarantee of absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

JL LAW PUZZLES

GVERNOR IN QUANDARY OVER TWO COURSES.

BARRASSING DILEMMA

Question Involved Is the Removal of Restriction on the Tax Levying Powers of the Corporate Authorities of Chicago.

Springfield.—Gov. Deneen is hesitating between two courses with regard to the repeal of the Juul law. One is to veto the bill and to trust the legislature when it meets in October to pass it over his veto, if by that time the Chicago charter has been adopted by the people. The other is to have the bill held back, if possible, so that it does not come before him for his signature until after September 17, when the charter is submitted to the people's vote. Unless the charter be adopted the Juul law will be necessary, as it will be the only limitation of taxation on the statute books. If the repeal act should be signed by the governor and then the charter fall of adoption on September 17, there would be no statutory restriction on the tax levying powers of the corporate authorities. Real estate men in Chicago have become painfully alive to this situation and have been requesting the governor to veto the repeal act. To do so and to trust the legislature to pass the bill over his veto in the fall, if the charter be adopted, is regarded as dangerous for the charter. A two-thirds vote would be required, and it might not be possible to secure it. If the veto should stand and the law not be repealed after the charter had been adopted the revenue changes made in the big act would be worse than worthless, according to the measure. Chicago, instead of securing financial relief, would be in worse condition than ever. The dilemma is an embarrassing one. If the charter falls and the Juul law be repealed the lid is off, so far as taxation is concerned. If the charter be carried and the Juul law is not repealed the lid not only is nailed down but it is shoved about half a foot further down and double riveted.

Labor Arraigns Legislature.

President Edwin R. Wright and Secretary J. F. Morris, of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, issued a statement declaring that organized labor in this state had little to be grateful for in the way of legislation at the hands of the general assembly. The party organizations, they declare, have denied labor any affirmative legislation, with the exception of the new Joliet penitentiary bill, and the bill requiring the report of accidents. "On almost every occasion," they assert, "we have been told to agree with our opponents (our employers) and present 'agreed legislation.' The administration measures which aimed to protect life and limb from unguarded machinery; to preserve our health through sanitary workshops and promote the welfare of those dear to us through proper protection, have been denied," the statement continues. The federation officials do not blame the governor or the members of the assembly individually, but rather the party organizations in the ratio of their representation.

Sign the Dance Hall Bill.

Gov. Deneen signed the Gluckin bill and when it goes into force in July heavy penalties will be in store for any proprietor or manager who permits minors to enter a public dancing hall where liquors are sold. Among other bills signed were those abolishing the dens at Highwood, placing the state militia on a division formation with a major general in command and regulating the fishing in Lake Michigan. The governor also signed one of the Chicago teachers' pension bills, its companion piece providing additional revenue from interest on school funds still being in the hands of the attorney general.

Scandal Over Waterway.

A scandal of huge proportions broke when the legislature met to consider the deep waterway bill. It became known that the great opposition to the bill is alleged to be due to a $2,000,000 bond issue of the Economy Light & Power company of Joliet, which has been underwritten by two Chicago financial concerns and which cannot be marketed, it is said, if the bill pass. Back of the bank issue is declared to be a gigantic scheme conceived by the company—which is said to be owned by Chicago capitalists—to control all the immense water power generated in the Joliet valley by the drainage canal and to make it the basis for big financial dealings.

Local Option Bill Signed.

Gov. Deneen signed the local option bill. The measure gives to cities, towns and villages and townships in certain counties the right to vote on the question of saloons or no saloons.

State Bar Meets in July.

The Illinois State Bar association will hold its annual meeting at O'Learyburg July 10, 11 and 12 and during these days the lawyers of the state will have an opportunity to discuss the topics of special interest to them. Edward Morse Shepard, of New York, will deliver the annual address. The subject of general discussion this year will be railroad rate legislation. James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, will lead the argument for the affirmative and John M. Zane will take the negative side's leadership.

Leaves Balances Available.

One effect of the recess is that it will leave available any balances of appropriations made two years ago that may remain unexpended on Jan. 1 next. Under the law money appropriated is available until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature. After that it lapses back into the treasury. As the regular session will not adjourn until some time after Oct. 15 all money appropriated by the legislature in 1905 will be available till the end of the fiscal quarter following the adjournment. This means that any department or institution having an unexpended balance can continue to draw on it, saving its appropriation made by this session by that much. Among legislators the question has been raised, too, whether Gov. Deneen could call a special session during the recess between now and Oct. 15. It is not at all likely that the governor would wish to call an extra session unless the supreme court should knock out the primary law in the case now before it.

Will Cut Appropriation Bills.

It seems to be taken for granted that Gov. Deneen will veto $1,000,000 or more of the amount appropriated by the legislature. The total appropriations amount to some $20,500,000. The state's revenue for the next two years is estimated at $16,000,000. This with the $3,000,000 surplus in the treasury, amounts to $19,000,000, which is the sum that can be spent in the next two years without increasing the tax levy, something the governor wishes to avoid. These conditions necessitate scaling down the appropriation bills by about $1,500,000. Under the law the governor can veto any item of an appropriation bill without affecting or impairing the validity of the rest of the measure. But in the case of many of the bills no itemization was made. The sums for the various purposes were voted in bulk. It is over these bills the governor will have his troubles in his effort to scale down the total of the appropriations.

To Work for Deep Waterway.

A methodical campaign of education in the interests of the deep waterway project will be started at once as a sequel to the action of the legislature in adjourning for a five months' recess in order mentally to assimilate the drainage bills. Representatives of the Chicago Commercial association, officers of the sanitary district, congressmen and business and professional men who have been working for the measure announced before departing from Springfield that a vigorous movement will be opened up without delay in order that when the lawmakers reconvene Oct. 8 there will be such a clamorous sentiment for the bills that the opposition of the Joliet citizens will melt into thin air. "By Oct. 8," said R. R. McCormick, president of the drainage board, "there will be such a general call for the improvement from all parts of the state that the bills will find little opposition in the assembly, I am sure."

Experts Differ in Opinion.

Some of the legislative experts insist that the legislature not having finally adjourned is constitutionally alive and that if any item in the charitable institutions bill is vetoed the entire measure must be locked up in the senate until Oct. 8 or a later date. Other legislators say that Gov. Deneen can do as Gov. Palmer did in 1871, when a recess was taken from May until the November following. Gov. Palmer filed his veto messages with the secretary of state and written notices of his action with the houses in which the various vetoed bills originated.

Salary Bill Dead.

Cermack's bill under which it was proposed to raise the salaries of members of the legislature from $1,000 to $2,000 appears to be dead. It has been discovered that the senate adopted viva voce a motion to recede from its amendments to the bill in which the house refused to concur. The result is that the same bill was not adopted by both houses. President Sherman, of the senate, says he will not sign the measure for the reason that it was not passed by both houses and the chances are that no more attention will be paid to it.

Anti-Cigarette Bill Passed.

An impression that gained general circulation in Chicago that the Berry anti-cigarette bill failed to pass both houses of the legislature was disproved at Springfield by the house journal for last Saturday. It passed both houses, though amended from the measure originally introduced and for which Lucy Page Gaston, president of the National Cigarette league, and John L. Whitman, head of the Chicago branch of the organization, worked.

Vetoed Fraternal Bill.

Gov. Deneen sent the general assembly his veto on senate bill 428, exempting the property of fraternal insurance associations from taxation. The veto was based on constitutional grounds.

Tax Rate May Be Raised.

If Gov. Deneen should approve all the appropriation bills that were passed by the Forty-fifth general assembly, the tax rate of the state would have to be raised next fall to 64 per cent to raise the necessary money. The highest previous rate was that of 66 per cent in 1897. In the last thirteen years the lowest rate was 40 per cent, in 1902, when the United States government paid into the treasury of the state of Illinois $1,500,000 to settle a civil war claim.

A Compliment.

"Of course," said Miss Clumsy, "Mr. Kidder's language is not always elegant, but he can be very complimentary in his rough way." "Yes?" asked Miss Wise. "Yes, he says 'I'm a bird.' 'Huh! So is an ostrich.'"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a "catarrh" of the Eustachian Tube, and when this is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Slamens Object to Walking.

The Slamens, above all nations in the world, hate to walk; no such mode of progression is tolerated by a Slamen. If he or she can be by any means rido. A Venetian gondolier will walk sometimes; even a Hollander will ride on his rough cart, but a Bangkok man—not if he can help it. His family boat for him.—Windsor Magazine.

ITCHING RASH 18 YEARS.

Girl's Rash Spread and Grew Worse Under Specialist's Care—Perfect Cure by Cuticura Remedies.

"When my daughter was a baby she had a breaking out behind the ears. The doctor said that she would outgrow it, and it did get somewhat better until she was about fifteen years old, and after that she could get nothing that would drive it away. She was always applying something in the way of salves. It troubled her behind the neck, opposite the elbows, back of the neck and ears, under the chin, and then it got on the face. That was about three years ago. She took treatment with a specialist and seemed to get worse all the time. We were then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, and now I don't see any breaking out. M. Curley, 11-19 Sixteenth St., Bay City, Mich., May 20, 1906."

"Gumming" Season Over.

Like returning miners from the Klondike, the "gummers," amateur and professional, are coming out of the Maine woods with their golden grains, say the Boston Globe. Spruce gum has hardly reached the "weight in gold" price, but the lover of the balsamic "chew," for which there is no real substitute, must pay at the rate of $2.40 a pound for it, and that in Bangor, Me., a city supposed to be the Dawson City of the gum regions.

Free Medical Advice.

A well known London physician at a dinner party one evening was much worried by one who was seeking gratuitous advice. "Do you know, doctor," said his questioner, "I know a man who suffers so terribly with indigestion that at times he can do nothing but howl with pain. What would you do in that case?" "Well, I suppose," responded the medical man, "I should howl with him."

Seoul and Its Inmates.

A recent estimate of the population of Seoul gives the total at 199,305. In every ward but the north one the number of males exceeds that of females, but in that part of the city the number of males is given as 17,000, while the females are 90,000. This would be hard to explain on any ordinary theory of population. Seoul has no quarter set aside for the exclusive residence of females.—Korea Daily News.

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves. 'Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast and did not feel like attending to my store duties. 'One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared and to-day I am all right. I would advise everyone affected in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee. 'There's a Reason.' Read, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pkgs."

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."
Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."
Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."
Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."
Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."
Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."
Dr. J. A. Boardman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

Mrs. Ernest Shepardson is visiting in Chicago.

Edgar and Ray Kerr were Chicago visitors Friday.

Mrs. W. E. Hesselgrave was a Chicago visitor Monday.

Miller & Gonyo are busy painting Chas. Plesent's cottage.

B. F. VanPatten of Antioch, was a Lake Villa visitor Monday.

Chas. Harbaugh is treating his barn to a new coat of paint.

Mat Sugar was a business visitor in Rockefeller Thursday.

Mrs. Ernest Wald was a Chicago visitor the last of the week.

Wm. Sheld of Chicago, was a Lake Villa visitor the first of the week.

T. N. Donnelly of Chicago, spent Sunday at his cottage on Sand Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilton were visitors in Lake Forest Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Hucker and Mrs. F. S. Morrell were Grayslake visitors Saturday.

Where, oh where are the cement walks our village fathers promised us this spring?

Quite a number of our young people attended the dance at Antioch Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Foster of Chicago, spent Sunday with Will Hucker and family.

Three gasoline launches have been received here for Fox Lake parties during the past week.

Mrs. Cribb is reported to be seriously ill. What the nature of her malady is we are unable to learn.

G. V. Cordingly came out from Chicago Thursday where he had been transacting business for a few days.

Mr. Winholt of Chicago, spent Saturday and Sunday at his cottage on the north shore of Cedar Lake.

Don't forget the base ball boys dance at Sugar's hall May 29. Get a ticket whether you dance or not and help the boys out.

Mr. Thrapp, who held the position of drug clerk for Wm. Sebor, last Summer, was a visitor in Lake Villa Thursday.

For Sale—House, barn and one acre of land; also blacksmith shop and good will. Inquire of Jos. Pester, Lake Villa, Ill. 351

John McMahon has had the unsightly pile of dirt removed from his front lawn which improves the place to a great degree.

B. Schramm has secured a competent druggist and is now able to fill all prescriptions or take care of anything in the drug line.

VanPatten & Son are having linoleum put down on the floor of the ladies room in the saloon and it will be furnished for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Russ Douglas for the past few days, returned to their home in Chicago Monday.

Two of the Allendale boys ran away last week. One got as far as Chicago and the other as far as Grayslake, but both got hungry and came back Saturday.

The ball game between Round Lake and Lake Villa resulted in a victory for Lake Villa. It was the hardest game our boys have had and at the end of the ninth inning the score stood 4 to 3.

The roads west of town have been graded and are now in fairly good condition, but are sadly in need of a roller to take the lumps out; and a little dirt in the mud holes would not go amiss.

Mat Sugar has secured the contracts for lighting the Hotel Cushing at Grass Lake and Deneen's saloon at Ingleside. This makes 1,000 lights Mr. Sugar has sold in this community.

Next Sunday the Lake Villa ball team will play Fox Lake at the Ingleside grounds. If the weather is good this will be a nice afternoon drive and good rosters in the grand stand are always encouraging.

After a vain attempt to get to Chicago Monday Eugene Wilton finally gave it up and returned to Lake Villa to join the "Bingo" club. He missed the train here and after driving to Grayslake missed the St. Paul.

Owing to a misprint of one letter in last week's issue, the item referring to the "Square Deal" party was made to read "Square Meal" party and called down the wrath of said party upon the correspondent's head. This was indeed a bad error, as the correspondent does not remember of ever having received a square meal from any political party.

How to Convince a Man.

In dealing with others in the intellectual region, the objects should be not to convince, but to get people to state their own views, and to realize that unless a man converts himself no one else can. The method should be not to attack conclusions, but to ask patiently for the evidence upon which these conclusions are based.—A. C. Benson.

A Narrow Escape.

G. W. Cloyd, a merchant of Plunk, Mo., had a narrow escape four years ago when he ran a jinon bur into his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and that cured the dangerous wound." 25c at J. H. Swan's druggist.

Food for Household Pets.

The coarser parts of meat are much better for dog pets than the better part of the steak. A dog should not be allowed to eat chicken or mutton chops, as the bones of both splinter and are bad for him.

Cascasweet for babies is the best remedy for colic, summer complaint, diarrhoea and sour stomach. It is especially good in cases of teething when irritation affects the stomach and intestines. Cascasweet is a pleasant, safe remedy, containing neither opiates nor narcotics; all the ingredients are printed plainly on the wrapper. Endorsed by mothers because it acts so quickly. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Supplement Antioch News

ANTIOCH, ILL., MAY 15, 1907.

NAVY LOBBY IS BARRED

But Bacon Says the Barring Looks Too Autocratic for Him.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Asserting that the line officers of the navy had made the challenge: "We are going to light a fire under every senator and member, and oblige them to report the naval personnel bill," Hale presented a resolution in the senate directing the secretary of the navy to investigate and report to congress whether or not a violation is being made of the president's orders prohibiting lobbying on the part of government employees.

Bacon opposed the resolution as a restriction on the right of petition. He had the same criticism to make as to the executive orders referred to. "It does not sound like the twentieth century to me," exclaimed Bacon, "these arbitrary orders of the president. It has too much the sound of autocratic or unrestrained rule issued to hirelings, and not free men." Bacon maintained that the executive orders referred to affected the fundamental right of 200,000 persons. On Bacon's objections the resolution went over.

BANGS IS SHUT OUT

One of the Lowest Bidders on the Canal Is Rejected.

Washington, Jan. 26.—As a result of an extended conference at the White House it was decided to reject the bid of Oliver & Bangs, who proposed to complete the construction of the Panama canal for 6.75 per cent. of the total estimated cost, in so far as Anson M. Bangs, of New York city, is concerned. While no official statement was given out at the White House it can be authoritatively stated that if William J. Oliver, of Knoxville, Tenn., can enter into a satisfactory arrangement with some other contractor who is financially responsible he will be given the contract for the construction of the canal.

There would have been no question as to awarding the contract to Oliver & Bangs had the credentials presented by Bangs proved as satisfactory to the officials here as those furnished by Oliver.

Senate and House in Brief.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Resolutions to check naval officers from "lighting a fire under senators and members to compel the enactment of the naval personnel bill at this session" were presented in the senate by Hale and went over after a snappy debate. The urgent deficiency appropriation bill, carrying a loan of $1,000,000 to the Jamestown Exposition company was passed. The latter part of the day was devoted to the disposition of pension bills.

The house passed a number of bills of a local nature, including 380 private pension bills. The agricultural appropriation bill was then taken up, and the question of the free distribution of garden seed occupied the remainder of the day.

Blocks a Chicago Scheme.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The army engineers have advised Secretary Taft that he has no authority to grant the application of the sanitary board of Chicago for permission to reverse the flow of the Calumet river in that city and create a current through that waterway from Lake Michigan. The project would certainly result in the lowering of the level of the water in Lake Michigan, and injuriously affect navigation in the various ports and harbors which the government has improved at great expense.

Booze a Special Class.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The house committee on judiciary decided to make a favorable report on the Brantley bill making intoxicating liquors a special class in interstate commerce and forbidding the collection of money on O. D. shipments of such liquors in states where the sale of liquor is forbidden by the state laws.

Postoffice Appropriation.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The postoffice appropriation bill to be reported by the house committee on postoffices and post roads will probably carry between $208,000,000 and $208,000,000, as against an appropriation of $101,000,000 for the current year.

Beall Throws Demetral.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Fred Beall, of Wisconsin, made William Demetral, Chicago's aspirant for the heavyweight championship at catch-as-catch-can style wrestling, look like a novice when they met here. Demetral had twenty-five pounds the best of the weights and the referee—if his critics did not do him an injustice. But still Demetral was easy for Beall. The referee, however, gave Demetral the second fall, and was alone in the gift. Beall won the other two easily.

U. M. W. Executive Adjourns.

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers has finished its work and adjourned. The board decided that an attorney should be called on to draft suitable employers' liability and workmen's compensation bills. The workmen's compensation bill will provide that a specified amount shall be paid for the death or injury of a man killed or injured while following some hazardous occupation.

They Have Plenty of Coal.

"I Will Send Her"

[Original.]

De Witt Merriam, after taking many honors at college, having a fortune at his disposal, buried his talents in a napkin. In other words, instead of giving them to mankind he kept them for his own occasional amusement. Once and only once during the ten years following his graduation there was a chance for his reform. At Nice one year during the carnival he met a girl who might have awakened in him an ambition. There was a love affair, but in its incipency the girl was taken westward by her parents, while Merriam went eastward. As soon as they had separated Merriam knew what he had lost. Why he had lost her he never told his dearest friend. It was supposed her parents had other plans for her.

But he did tell his dearest friend of his disappointment. Strangely enough, that friend was an Alpine guide. Merriam spent many summers climbing the Swiss peaks, always with the same guide, Herman Goertz. The dangers they passed together, the solitude in which they camped, brought out a confidence that could have been elicited no other way. The guide had occasion to love his employer. On one occasion Goertz slipped, hung by the rope over a precipice and was pulling Merriam over with him. He called on Merriam to save himself by cutting the rope, but Merriam was made of sterner stuff and hung on till the guide got a grip on the ice, and they were saved.

The two parted at last in a snowstorm. An avalanche began to move slowly, taking Goertz with it. Merriam could not see him, but heard him say: "Herr, farewell. I will send her to you." A week later the guide's body was found a thousand feet below, head down in the snow.

Returning to America, Merriam tried to amuse himself. One day while at the seashore, strolling alone on the beach, a fog came in from the ocean and enveloped him. He was walking slowly, guided by the sound of the breakers, when a form loomed before him and in another moment resolved itself into a woman. She stopped, and Merriam stopped.

"You here!" he said under his breath.

"Yes, and you!"

"I supposed you were in Egypt. I was told by a friend that he saw you at Cairo not three weeks ago."

"I was. I reached America last week."

"Strangel!"

"That we should meet in this way? I should think so. How small the world is after all! But there is something stranger still. Do you know that I felt a premonition of meeting you here?"

"In the fog?"

"Yes."

"That is remarkable." Then he added musingly, "A premonition that you would meet me—in a fog?"

"There are gray hairs—a few—in your beard. Let me see; it is ten years since we met in Nice."

"And parted."

"I couldn't help that."

"Not very well, you so young. Had you been thirty instead of twenty it might have been different. Who sent you here?"

"Who sent me?"

"I mean why did you come?"

"I took a fancy to walk down the beach."

"And I took a fancy to walk up."

"And then the fog rolled in, and we didn't see each other until we happened to come near together. After all, it's simply a coincidence."

Merriam was silent.

"What are you dreaming about? I've heard you have been spending most of your time climbing mountains. You seem now to be looking from some high peak and wondering, as Professor Tyndall did from the top of the Matterhorn, whether the broad expanse before him had contained the nebulous cloud from which the universe was evolved."

"No. I am listening to the voice of a friend going to his death. There was a snowstorm. I couldn't see him. As the avalanche took him he bade me farewell through the flakes. And now you come to me through the mist."

She placed a hand on his. "Don't wear that uncanny expression. You seem to be standing between the natural and the spirit world. Go back in fancy to Nice. Say again what you said then."

"And receive a different answer?"

"All is changed. I am alone in the world."

Two expressions were hovering on his face contending for precedence, the one she had called uncanny gradually receding before the other, a sudden hope.

"And receive a different answer?" he repeated.

"Yes."

If one had been listening to this dialogue between two persons he could not see he would have heard nothing further except the splashing on the line of foam.

Then came a soft yellow light from above, and the mist slowly melted away, revealing the ocean, the circling gulls, the dunes, the cluster of hotels and cottages both up and down

Not at Home.

A little boy of seven, whose papa was a commercial traveler, was lately examining a newly born litter of kittens, and remarked: "Well, kitties, I know your mamma and your sisters and brothers, but I don't know your papa. I guess he must be a travelling man."

MAN WORE CORSETS.

He Did It to Display Costumes Made by His Ladylove.

SHE WAS ANOTHER'S WIFE.

Swartz's Amiability Led to Domestic Wars, and Now Mrs. Hammond Sues For Divorce—Her Husband Gets Back at Her.

In her deposition, taken in Jefferson City, Mo., Lillie Marie Ehrhardt, a witness for Thomas Lewis Hammond, who is being sued for a divorce by his wife, Rosa Lee Hammond, says that a traveling salesman named Swartz paid Mrs. Hammond a great deal of attention, even going so far as to wear a corset in order to better display costumes made by Mrs. Hammond.

This, she deposed, was during the dressmakers' convention held in St. Louis in 1904. Swartz, she said, acted as model for Mrs. Hammond.

The attorney taking the deposition asked her, "Do you remember if Mr.

HE FIXED HIMSELF UP AS A MODEL.

Swartz ever represented any person or party at a convention, and if so whom did he represent?"

"Who, if any one, assisted him in dressing?"

"Mrs. Hammond helped him some."

"State if you know or heard he had a corset on beneath the dress."

"I did not know, but I heard it said at the convention that he had a corset on. He looked to me as if he might have had a corset on, but of course I didn't make any examination."

This witness also said that Swartz had written several letters to Mrs. Hammond and that she had seen the two together several times both in St. Louis and in Jefferson City, where Mrs. Hammond also had a dressmaking establishment.

"He made four trips a year, and they were together every day of his stay. At the dressmakers' convention their booths adjoined."

She was asked if the plaintiff ever received a letter from Swartz and said she did when she was in St. Louis "at her store on Jefferson avenue."

"He said something in the letter about being up until 2 o'clock drinking cocktails. It was a very comical letter. Mrs. Hammond read the letter to me, but all I can remember is the part about 'cherries and cocktails.'"

Once when Swartz called on Mrs. Hammond, she said, Mr. Hammond called Mrs. Hammond out of the room, and Swartz "walked back and forth two or three times. Then he came and sat down on the table where I was at work and said, 'Isn't that woman crazy to live with such a man?'"

Once Mrs. Hammond propounded a hypothetical question to Lillie Marie Ehrhardt, but the witness did not answer it. "Mrs. Hammond asked me, 'Miss Ehrhardt said, 'if it was wrong for a married woman to walk through a park with a single man if he knew the circumstances of her trouble and consoled her.'"

Realism in the Pulpit.

The Rev. J. B. Hammill of the Hanson Place Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, filled the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church at Sayville, N. Y., on a recent Sunday. He was earnestly preaching from the text, "Look well to your formation," and leaning heavily on the pulpit desk when suddenly the desk went tumbling off the high platform over the altar rail, nearly hitting the devout layman in the front seat and scattering the Bible and the preacher's notes among the holders of the pews. The aged preacher barely escaped a tumble over the altar with the heavy desk.

Lightning Tore Her Stockings Off.

While Robert L. Taylor and Miss Eva Bondler, a schoolteacher, were out driving near Danville, Va., a flash of lightning struck their buggy. The horse was instantly killed, and the young woman's shoes and stockings were torn off. Taylor was severely burned and was rendered unconscious. The remarkable part of the occurrence is that while the lightning tore the apparel from the limbs of the girl she was not injured.

UNDER THE RED LAMP.

Surgeon's Queer Story Reads Like a Conan Doyle Tale.

Dr. Earl H. Ackley of Cincinnati recently had a strange experience that sounds like the story of one of the mythical surgeons in Conan Doyle's "Under the Red Lamp."

Dr. Ackley was summoned to his door one evening not long ago by two men, both smoothly shaved, stout and well dressed. One man wore a diamond studded secret society emblem on his watch chain. He asked Ackley if he wished to earn a big fee on a confidential case. The young surgeon accepted at once, but showed some hesitation when told he would have to be blindfolded.

He finally consented, and a black silk handkerchief was fastened about his eyes. One of the men picked up the case of surgical instruments, and each grasped Dr. Ackley by one arm and guided him out to an automobile. The machine sped smoothly along and after a few minutes was brought to a standstill. A journey up a flight of stone steps followed.

Then a soft carpet was felt under foot, and when the bandage was removed Dr. Ackley found himself standing by a bed in a richly furnished apartment. On the bed reclined a man about thirty-five years of age in a stupor. His throat had been cut from ear to ear, the incision as determined by the depth of the wound beginning at the lobe of the left ear and continuing under the chin nearly up to the base of the right ear.

Dr. Ackley noticed a young woman, a beautiful brunette, in the apartment and asked her to bring a basin of warm water. She complied, placed the water on a dresser and left. The wound, which had narrowly missed the trachea and jugular, was cleansed, and when Dr. Ackley commenced to sew it up the man became conscious and struggled, but the surgeon says he has but a desperate chance for his life.

When he endeavored to ascertain something about the case and asked for the name of the injured man as a matter of protection for himself in case the wound should prove fatal the surgeon was answered with, "You are getting paid for what you are doing, and it is not necessary that you know anything about this case."

Bands were again placed over Dr. Ackley's eyes, and he was escorted down the stone steps to the automobile and whirled back to his office.

MISS GEORGE SCORES

Appears In a Revival of Victorien Sardou's "Divorcees."

FRANK WORTHING IN CAST.

Miss George Does Excellent Work in the Old French Comedy—Her Cyprienne Is Captivating—Story of the Drama In Detail.

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

Grace George caused a mild sensation by the pleasing quality of her work as Cyprienne in a revival at Wallack's theater of Victorien Sardou's comedy "Divorcees." She used a version written by Margaret Mayo.

Frank Worthing and Robert T. Haines ably assisted Miss George.

The applause that greeted Miss George, who was much at home in the character of that vacillating but altogether charming woman, Cyprienne, was genuine beyond a doubt.

"Divorcees," as old theater goers know, is the story of a young woman who has married a man older than herself and who fancies that her life has been one continual bore. To relieve the monotony she convinces herself that she is in love with a cousin of her husband, a young officer of military presence bearing the romantic name of Adhemar de Grattine. And the young officer, not to be outdone, convinces himself that he is enamored of his cousin's wife. A new divorce law is before the assembly, and they look to its passage as the solution of all their difficulties.

The husband discovers that Adhemar has been making love unawares. At the crucial moment, when Adhemar sends a false report that the divorce law has been passed for the purpose of inducing Cyprienne to visit him in his rooms, the husband hits on a clever idea. He pretends that he, too, is glad of the divorce and the solution that it affords. Then madame begins to make sober comparisons, from which even the question of income cannot be excluded.

Then she waxes jealous at the idea of a successor. When the husband finally takes his wife out to dine at a restaurant of the demimonde positions are practically reversed, he in the position of lover, and the lover in the position of husband—or husband to be. The conclusion is obvious, and the complications leading to the conclusion are matters of stage history and perennial laughter.

Frank Worthing appeared as the sagacious husband in a manner that delighted the audience. Mr. Haines was the captivating lover described by Cyprienne with such diverse feeling in the first and last acts. Max Freeman made a distinct hit as the waiter in the last restaurant scene, and Miss George's performance was much appreciated. She delivered the audacious lines with charming vivacity.

The "Second Team" Habit.

The second team nuisance has been as common during the southern training trips this spring as it was last season, and a majority of the clubs are misrepresented in minor league parks by a collection of substitutes and pitchers playing strange positions advertised as the club of the city whose name adorns the shirt front of the misfits. This scheme to earn the traveling expenses of from twenty-five to thirty-five players, more than one-third of whom are experiments, is an imposition on the baseball public. It will be followed until it is proved to be unprofitable.

National League Date Changes.

Three changes of dates have been made in the schedule of the National league. On the original schedule the Brooklyn were booked to play a double header with the Pittsburgh in Pittsburgh on Sept. 10. One of these games will be played on Aug. 12 instead. The Pittsburghs will play in Brooklyn on July 15 instead of Aug. 13, and the Chicago will play in Cincinnati on May 27 instead of May 28.

Washington's Luck Last Year.

"Every club in the league will have a splendid financial year," said President Johnson of the American league the other day. "Washington, which has been regarded as a poor baseball city, is patronizing the game better this season than any previous one, and that is saying a great deal, for last year the club earned the net sum of $30,000, and the team finished in seventh place."

...A... METROPOLITAN INCIDENT

By HOWARD FIELDING

A MAN who is honest at heart and yet deeply engaged in questionable enterprises; who owes large sums and escapes bankruptcy by an endless process of borrowing from Peter to pay Paul; who is always "overdrawn" at one bank or another and makes the accounts good by checks which create other overdrafts; who lives upon his reputation for prompt paying, yet never really pays; who preserves meanwhile a conscience rooted like a great jaw tooth and always aching—such a man will have a weary mind, though the spur of ambition may keep it going.

A faded mind reveals itself in queer little absurdities. Observe, for example, Mr. Robert Ely walking up the east side of Broadway with an unlighted cigar in his mouth. An enviable young man surely. He is tall, strong and of a graceful carriage. He is dressed in good style, with a dash of individuality. He has a boyish, smooth shaven face, with wide gray eyes and an engaging frankness of expression. Who would not wish to be Mr. Ely? But why does he keep on fumbling with that matchbox after he should long since have discovered that it is empty? Why is it that neither his fingers nor his eyes convey any intelligence to his brain?

A small boy takes note of Mr. Ely and offers him a box of wind matches. "Light, sir?" says the boy, and holds up a sizzling match to show that the brisk breeze cannot blow it out.

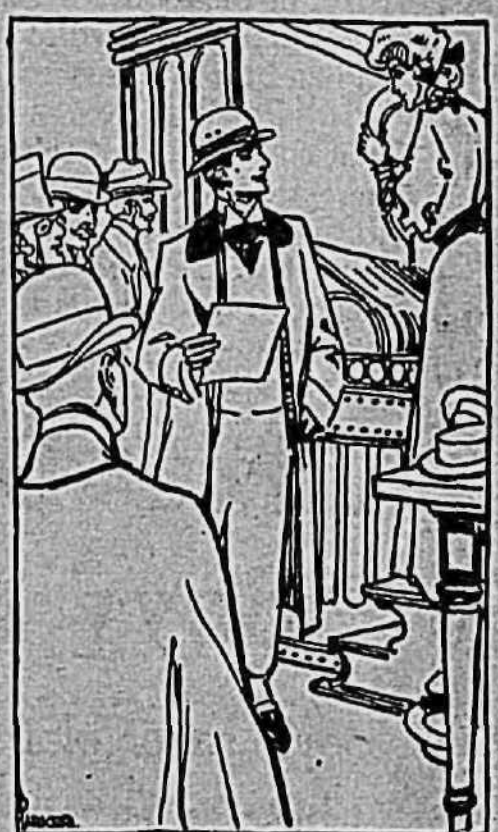

"Eh?" responds Mr. Ely, looking through the boy rather than at him. "Yes."

He gives the boy a dime and forgets the change. Then he puts the box and his own match safe into his pocket and goes on, his cigar still unlighted.

In a large room on the ground floor of a tall building an exhibition of the Jennings automatic straw hat machine is in progress. Mr. Ely is interested in this invention, but chiefly in the sale of stock in a company formed to exploit it. As to whether the machine will ever make straw hats for the world's wear Mr. Ely is as much in doubt as anybody else, but upon one point he has no doubt whatever—unless the stock sells he is a ruined man. Rather more than half of every dollar paid for the stock goes into Mr. Ely's pocket, and there are so many holes in that pocket that it is very hard to fill.

Mr. Ely has written the advertisements of the Jennings Automatic Straw Hat Machine company—which have occupied pages in the Sunday papers; he has arranged the present exhibition; he is paying all the expenses by a constant miracle of finance which he himself would not attempt to explain. The early indications of success have been good, and if nothing happens Mr. Ely will sail with a free wind out of all his troubles. But there are so many things that may happen.

For example, if the public should learn that the machine can be run at high speed only about half an hour and must then be stopped until certain parts of it have been cleaned there would be an end of the game. Mr. Ely did not know this himself when he embarked in the enterprise. He knew that the first machines built by inventors or Jennings had such a defect, but he supposed that it could be remedied

"MISS WILLIAMS, WILL YOU OBLIGE ME?"—easily. Mr. Jennings had told him so, but the changes made for that purpose had proved entirely useless. The new model clogged just as certainly and almost as quickly as the old.

When Mr. Ely entered the room where the exhibition was being given there was a crowd in attendance. It was the noon hour, when clerks and salesmen have a little leisure. Among them Mr. Ely's shrewd eye perceived a fair sprinkling of more important people, and upon the whole he was well satisfied. He did not scent the peril which was at his very elbow as he pushed his way through the crowd.
